GREAT OVATION GIVEN STATE LEADERS

Penrose, Pennypacker and Bingham Speak at Philadelphia.

OPEN THE CAMPAIGN

Thousands Unable to Get Into Academy of Music, Where Grand Rally Is Held.

ISSUES CLEARLY DEFINED

SPECIAL TELEGRAM FROM CHESTER D. POTTER, Staff Correspondent.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 18.—The formal opening of the Republican state campaign tonight at the Academy of Music, attracted the largest gathering of citizens which has assembled during the present campaign, if not the greatest in the political history of Philadelphia. Before 8 o'clock it was necessary to close the doors. The parquet circle, boxes and four tiers of balcony and galleries, were filled. Thousands were still clamoring for admission at the various entrances.

At 8 o'clock Broad street, from Spruce street to city hall, was crowded with people who could not get into the Academy. The Young Republican, Union and Penrose club houses were illuminated and from the roof of the latter a minute gun was fired. Redfire and rockets were added to the enthusiasm. Nearly every ward contributed marching clubs to the parade, which was imposing and extensive. Every band in the city was in action. Torchlights and transparencies were carried. The campaign texts were instructive and humorous. One read: "Who guards the town while the police are in politics—Gordon."

Leaders Greeted by Cheers.

It required a detail of police to force a passageway for Gov. Pennypacker, Senator Penrose and the other speakers, who reached the Academy shortly after 8. Their appearance on the stage was greeted by cheers which lasted five minutes, the audience standing and waving small American flags. Col. W. R. Andrews, Republican state chairman, was applauded when he called the meeting to order and introduced as chairman Congressman H. H. Bingham, "father of the national house of representatives." Gen. Bingham spoke briefly, referring to the anarchistic developments following the Folk meeting, and strongly deprecated mob demonstrations of such character.

Gov. Pennypacker, Senator Penrose and Peter Boyd made the principal addresses. Gov. Pennypacker spoke in part as follows:

Mr. President and Gentlemen: I am here tonight at your request, not as the governor of the commonwealth, but as a Philadelphian, who lived among you for 40 years, who sat upon the bench of one of your courts for 13 years, and who, leaving you not at his own desire but at what he believed to be a call to wider duties, is still a taxpayer here like yourselves.

I hope, therefore, you will bear with me while I speak to you in absolute frankness about your affairs and to some extent about those of the state. In using the power of his office to prevent the extension of the gas lease for 75 years the mayor did exactly right. There are certain functions which if a municipality neglects to perform it fails as a governmental agency and among them are the preservation of the peace, the maintenance of the highways, and the supply of water and light. The gas works ought never to have been leased to the United Gas Improvement Company. It is ever the first step which costs. There is a difference in time, but none in principle between a lease for 10 years and one for 75 years and it is not surprising that when the barriers were once broken an effort should be made to extend the advantages of possession for longer periods.

If your attention has at all been given to state affairs you will have observed that the numerous efforts which have been made in legislation to transfer from municipalities to private corporations the control of sewers, gas and water have in every instance in the last two legislative sessions been prevented, and at its last session the legislature passed an act which took away

EIGHT INJURED IN A STREET CAR ACCIDENT

STOPS ON A LAWN

While rounding the curve from North avenue into Monterey street, Allegheny, shortly after 8 o'clock last evening, westbound car No. 272, on the Brighton road line, jumped the track, rushed upon the sidewalk and crashed into the iron railing surrounding the home of Congressman William H. Graham, seriously injuring the motorman and three women and slightly injuring the conductor and three male passengers, all who were on the car. The injured are:

MRS. ELIZABETH OVERBECK, aged 54, of 3500 Perrysville avenue; badly cut on top of her head; hands and face cut and bruised; back and arms sprained and bruised; taken to the office of a physician, where 10 stitches were sewed into her scalp; condition serious.

FRANCIS J. BLOEMER, motorman, aged 30, of 315 Maryland avenue, Allegheny; scalp wound; cut and bruised about the body; taken to Allegheny General hospital.

HENRY JENNINGS, conductor, aged 24, of 99 Taggart street, Allegheny; forehead, face and neck cut; taken to Allegheny General hospital.

MRS. IDA BUTLER, aged 25, of 1815 Fremont street, Allegheny; scalp wound; left ankle and left wrist sprained; received medical treatment and sent home.

WILLIAM BIRD, aged 20, of 3 Reed street, Pittsburgh; cut by flying glass; taken home.

MISS WILMA DE TEMPLE of 187 Woods Run avenue; thrown through window; face cut and bruised and back wrenched.

MAN refusing to give his name, cut about face and taken to Allegheny General hospital.

The blame for the accident cannot be definitely placed. One report states that the brakes refused to work, while another holds that the motorman mistook Monterey for Palo Alto street, and, not expecting the curve, took it at full speed.

Leaving the rails and bounding over the cast tracks, the car shot over the asphalt pavement, on to the sidewalk and into the iron fence with a crash that frightened the neighborhood. Mrs. Overbeck was thrown through a window and was caught, by her hair, in one of the pickets of the fence. She was unconscious when removed. Miss Wilma De Temple, who was hurled out of another window, landed on the asphalt pavement. The injured were at first taken into the house of Congressman Graham and given emergency attention.

CITIZENS COIN TO FLOW AS WATER TO WIN VOTES

Robinson Says Boodle Will Elect Fusion Ticket Against Sentiment.

OFFER IS MADE TO SCHAFER

"What do we care for sentiment, when we have money to choke it off? It is money that counts, and we have loads of it. It is being put into Allegheny today. The campaign in Allegheny starts today and we will produce a majority of 3,500 for the Citizens ticket on our side of the river, although the Citizens party has been in bad condition there lately. The Pennsylvania railroad is giving the Citizens barrels of money."

The above statement was made yesterday by John W. Robinson, member of Allegheny select council from the Fourth ward and a brother of Andrew L. Robinson, city treasurer under Mayor Wyman.

Director Bigelow yesterday boasted he had raised a campaign fund of $200,000 for the county fight. He made the boast with an affectation of modesty. "I am beginning to lose faith in my ability to raise money," he said. "I have been able to get only $200,000 for this campaign."

Charles Schafer charges the Citizens party managers with offering him money to work for their ticket. He involves County Chairman Woods, Ward Chairman McDonough and John Elmore, the Citizens "boss" in the Thirteenth ward. Schafer tells the story: "McDonough came to me and asked me if I was working. I told him I was not and he said he wanted to do something for me. I agreed to meet McDonough last Thursday morning at the office of the department of charities in Fourth avenue. I went there with a friend and met Elmore and McDonough. Elmore offered me $50 cash down and a job after election if I would get out and work for the ticket. He said he would also pay me a salary until I got a job.

"After making this proposition I was taken to Senator Woods, who told me he would stand by any arrangement the ward chairman made with me. I told them I would let them know in three days and last Sunday notified them that I would not support the Citizens ticket nor accept the money.

"I was employed as sanitary policeman and was discharged because I refused to work against Charles C. Schad, candidate for councils in 1904.

"There are 3 payrollers in the sixth district of the Thirteenth ward, in which I live, and each one of these men is compelled to employ two workers at the polls on election day and pay each worker not less than $5 a day."

STATE CAN'T LOSE BY FAILURE OF ENTERPRISE

Protected by Gilt-Edged Bonds Worth Nearly the Amount of the Deposit.

BELONGS TO GENERAL FUND

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

HARRISBURG, Oct. 18.—The state is fully protected from any loss by the failure of the Enterprise National bank of Allegheny, according to Assistant Cashier Dewey, who is in charge of the treasury department in the absence of his superiors.

The latest monthly report of State Treasurer Mathues shows that the Enterprise had a state deposit, belonging to the general fund, of $582,000. Mr. Dewey says this is protected by gilt-edged bonds valued at nearly $600,000, and he is confident the state will not lose one cent. He declines to furnish the exact amount of the bonds and the names of the bondsmen, or to say whether the amount of the deposit has been increased or decreased since the latest monthly statement was issued. Mr. Dewey has nothing to conceal, but he prefers to give out no information in the absence of Treasurer Mathues, who is at his home in Media. Cashier Pierce is at Wilmington, Del., attending a wedding and is expected at the department tomorrow afternoon.

The Enterprise has been a state depository for many years and the amount of the public funds which it carried was seldom less than $500,000. The $582,000 carried on deposit at the close of last month belonged to the general fund of the treasury, and under the law the bank paid the state 2 per cent interest.

Whether any portion of the amount in the sinking fund, on which the state receives no interest, was carried on deposit in the Enterprise, is not known. The list of the banks in which the sinking fund money is deposited is never made public.

RECEIVER IS ASKED FOR.

Bondholders of North American Investment Company Want Affairs of That Concern Wound Up.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 18.—A petition was filed in the circuit court this afternoon for the appointment of a receiver with power to wind up the affairs of the North American Investment Company and for an injunction to prevent the removal of any of the assets of the company from the state.

The suit was filed by attorneys representing seven bondholders of the company. Violation of the Missouri laws relating to foreign corporations is alleged.

DISSATISFIED SISTER TO GET $1,700,000 OF FATHER'S FORTUNE

Lockhart Heirs Finally Reach an Agreement—Estate Valued at $40,000,000—Medical and Legal Talent Prepared for a Bitter Contest.

Mrs. Sarah E. Flower will receive $1,700,000 out of the $40,000,000 left by her father, Charles Lockhart, the Standard Oil magnate, who died nearly a year ago. Mr. Lockhart, displeased with his daughter's marriage, left her but the interest of $300,000.

For a time litigation was threatened, even to the attempt to break the will. How far this might have gone is suggested by the fact that many of the most prominent alienists in the country were consulted, including Drs. R. S. Sutton, C. C. Hersman, John F. Sweeney and John Furman of this country, Dr. Patrick of Chicago, Drs. Mills and Musser of Philadelphia, and Dr. Starr of New York. Detectives were also employed.

The heirs had engaged, preparatory to a possible legal fight, John J. Johnston of Philadelphia, J. E. McKelvey and J. Merrill Wright of this city, while Mrs. Flower had retained David T. Watson of Alaska boundary fame, John C. Haymaker, W. B. Rodgers, Joseph Stadtfeld, Jesse H. Wise and Frank P. Iams. This array of legal talent meant a fight clear to the supreme court of the United States, if it was possible to get the contest into that tribunal.

The five children have now reached an agreement, which will be drawn up and signed so soon as Mrs. Flower's three brothers and a sister swear to an affidavit that their father's estate is not worth more than $40,000,000. It had been estimated at $110,000,000.

A peculiar feature of the case is that Mr. Lockhart in his will apparently overlooked $2,000,000 he had placed in a trust fund, the interest of which was to be divided among his five children. Mrs. Flower will receive her share of this, the interest on $400,000, the interest on the $200,000, left her in her father's will, and the interest on $1,000,000 the other four heirs agree to set aside for her benefit, making in all the interest on $1,700,000.

SUICIDE REVEALS STARTLING CONDITION IN NATIONAL BANK, AND RECEIVER TAKES CHARGE

SECRET LOANS CAUSE OF RUIN

Invests Large Sums in Southwestern Railroad and in Silver Mining Propositions—Has an Engagement With Directors to Take Up the Paper, Which the Officials of the Bank Consider of Questionable Value—National Comptroller of the Currency at Once Appoints Examiner John B. Cunningham Receiver of the Institution. President Gwinner of the Bank Declares It Will Resume.

T. Lee Clark, cashier of the Enterprise National bank of Allegheny, is dead at the family residence, 545 Lincoln avenue, Bellevue. With a revolver clutched in his fingers and a gaping wound in his right temple, he was found by his wife at 8 o'clock yesterday morning lying on the floor of his bedroom. He had previously taken laudanum to assure death.

The Enterprise bank, one of the oldest financial institutions on the North Side, has been declared insolvent by the comptroller of currency at Washington and its doors have been closed. Bank Examiner John B. Cunningham is in charge and, with two assistants, is going through the books.

None of the directors of the bank will say there has been any extensive defalcation, but none denies the bank has been a loser to the amount of several hundred thousand dollars.

CLARK'S OPERATIONS A MYSTERY.

In what manner such a sum got away from the bank without the knowledge and sanction of the board of directors will not be told by any of the members of that body. Until a thorough examination of the books is completed they refuse to make a positive statement concerning the financial operations of Cashier Clark and the manner in which the bank's funds were disposed. President Fred Gwinner, Sr., said yesterday:

"It has been brought out that Mr. Clark loaned over $100,000 to former State Senator William H. Andrews. Other loans have been made that show conclusively that Mr. Clark was involved deeply. This was unknown to me. Francis J. Torrance borrowed some—how much I cannot say."

Cashier Clark, in conference with several of the bank directors, a few days ago, talked over the condition of the bank.

It is said he was told by the directors he would have to meet the paper obligations of the institution negotiated through him, and had promised to insure the bank against all loans for which he was responsible. The supposition is he was unable to accomplish this, and fearing the consequences, took his life a short time before he was to have met again with the directors.

From a Pittsburgh banker President Gwinner learned several days ago of the condition of the Enterprise bank insofar as its loans were concerned. The information, according to Mr. Gwinner, led him to make an immediate report to the comptroller of the currency, with a request that an examiner be assigned to make an investigation. Examiner Cunningham visited the bank on Tuesday afternoon, and for more than six hours was with Mr. Clark. Mr. Cunningham declined yesterday to make any statement concerning his discoveries.

MET CLARK ON TUESDAY.

"You saw Mr. Clark here on Tuesday?" was asked of Mr. Cunningham.

"Well, I think I did. I cannot say anything just now. A statement will be made after the true conditions have been ascertained. I expect to make this bank my headquarters for some time."

The bank had $582,000 of the state general fund on deposit and may have had some of the state sinking fund. All this money is insured by bonds of the Mercantile Trust Company of Pittsburgh, and the United States Fidelity and Trust Company of Baltimore, so the state will lose nothing.

FREDERICK GWINNER, SR., President of the Enterprise National Bank of Allegheny.

Mr. Clark had been in the employ of the bank for more than 30 years, and had the confidence of the directors. He was regarded as wealthy, and it is said he made a fortune through shrewd business operations outside the bank. He was a heavy investor in real estate in Bellevue and Avalon. On Tuesday morning President Gwinner indorsed the cashier's note for $50,000, to enable him to purchase some property.

INTERESTED IN WESTERN RAILROAD.

Besides this, Clark was associated with Senator Andrews and Francis J. Torrance in the Santa Fe Central Railway Company, incorporated in New Mexico in 1901. The stock of the corporation has never been marketed, and in "The Manual of Statistics" is quoted at $100 par. The authorized issue is $2,225,000, and the funded debt $2,500,000. The North American Savings Company of Pittsburgh is transfer agent, and the Pittsburgh Trust Company is mortgage trustee and agent for the payment of interest. The Albuquerque Eastern Railway Company, a subsidiary concern, in January, 1905, gave a mortgage to the Pittsburgh Trust Company, securing bonds on that line.

The road was built by Andrews and Torrance, and is said not to have been financially a successful venture. The inference is some of the money for which the Enterprise bank holds notes was used in the construction of this line.

INVESTED IN MINING STOCKS.

More than this, Cashier Clark was a heavy investor in Mexican and New Mexico silver mining stocks, according to President Gwinner.

"I know Mr. Clark had large interests in silver mining stock in the southwest," said Mr. Gwinner. "What stocks they are or what is their value, or worthlessness, I do not know. This whole thing has come as a terrible shock to me. Mr. Clark was fearfully involved and I never had the slightest suspicion of it until a few days ago. When we discovered that $100,000 was missing, I offered my check for the amount at once, and would gladly have given that amount to prevent trouble in the bank. But that is only a small part of the shortage, and we were not long in discovering this. The institution is too old to fail. We must make good the amount somehow, and I feel confident we will."

Paying Teller Thomas W. Harvey, who has been in the bank for years, said yesterday he had not the slightest intimation of the real condition of affairs until within the past few days. Mr. Harvey is still ignorant of the extent of the loans made or whose notes Cashier Clark held for the bank's money.

Since 1870, when it was established, the Enterprise bank has been regarded as one of the most solid and conservative financial institutions in the community. It has almost 3,000 depositors, who have in the bank more than $2,700,000. It directors are among the most wealthy and respected men on the North Side, and, to all appearances, its policy was one of caution and conservatism.

Few in Allegheny heard of the suicide of Cashier Clark until noon. At that hour the bank was ordered closed by the comptroller of currency and Examiner Cunningham appointed receiver. This fact alone probably prevented a run on the institution. During the early afternoon, when the report of Cashier Clark's suicide became generally known, many depositors gathered at Beaver avenue and Franklin street and stood about, talking in low tones, of the possible result to the bank. Several nervous depositors entered the bank and made anxious inquiries.

"I do not think there is cause for fear. I believe the bank is solvent, and that every dollar will be paid to depositors."

This was the invariable reply of Teller Harvey to inquirers.

Directors Held a Conference.

A large crowd waited in Beaver avenue until the board of directors emerged from the doors. The directors went into session at 2 o'clock and for a few minutes discussed the situation. The large amount involved seemed to stagger all of them, and there appeared little disposition on the part of any one to go very far into the matter at the present time. They seemed to realize the worst, but were reluctant to face it immediately. All the directors seem to be confident the bank will survive the crash, and will be opened again for business.

On August 25 last the following statement of the resources and liabilities of the bank was issued:

RESOURCES.

Loans and discounts	$2,842,807

The following compose the board of directors of the Enterprise bank: Fred Gwinner, Sr., James P. McKinney, Charles F. Stifel, A. F. Schwerd, David Morrison, William T. Bradberry, T. Lee Clark, August Langenheim and William A. Selling. Mr. Gwinner is president; William T. Bradberry, vice president; Thomas W. Harvey, paying teller, and Charles Menzmer receiving teller.

NO ALARM IS FELT IN CLEARING HOUSE

R. S. Smith Expects No Dire Consequences to Follow the Allegheny Bank Failure.

"In the Pittsburgh clearing house there has been manifested no feeling of unrest over the developments which have followed the Allegheny tragedy," said R. S. Smith, president of the Pittsburgh Clearing House association and of the Union National bank. Mr. Smith's remarks indicated that the entire banking community included in Pittsburgh and Allegheny was not perceptibly disturbed by the distressing occurrences in Allegheny.

"A bank failure always is a deplorable thing," said Mr. Smith. "And a fire is likewise something that is deplorable and causes alarm. If a man resides in a city block where a bad fire is raging he naturally feels some unrest, but when there is an abundance of water and plenty of good engines the chances are that he will suffer no loss. All the Pittsburgh banks are practically in the same position at this moment. There is fire in their neighborhood, but there is at the same time no end of water to quench the flames, if you will allow me to compare the funds of our banks to water.

"I feel no distrust myself and think no other member of the Clearing House association has any reason for alarm. If we anticipated a flurry we should have taken some action or made some public statement ere this. The fact that we have paid no attention to the matter indicates that no fear is felt. A few ignorant people may become excited, but they will soon become calm."

SHRINKAGE IN STOCKS HASTENS THE TRAGEDY

Clark's Downfall Hurried by Decline in Value of National Fire Proofing Securities.

In stock market circles it was reported that a contributory cause to the downfall of Clark was the recent heavy shrinkage in the market value of National Fire Proofing stocks. Based upon the selling price of last spring, these stocks have declined between 40 and 50 per cent, and just before and after the passage of the preferred dividend there was extensive liquidation in the market. Inquiry among a number of local brokerage houses, however, failed to verify the report that Clark had been speculating in the stock market. The member of one house stated that during the boom in bank and trust company shares three years ago Clark had one deal in a high-priced stock, but when the decline came he lifted the account, and so far as this house knew, he had not been in the stock market to any large extent.

The tragedy recalled to the recollection of another house that last week it received an inquiry from an out-of-town bank as to the market value of Santa Fe Central bonds, which had been offered as collateral for a loan. These bonds were never quoted in the Pittsburgh market, and New York's reply to an inquiry for a quotation was to the effect that the bonds had never got out of first hands, were therefore not listed on any exchange, and a market value had not been publicly established. Clark was treasurer of the company, and in the light of events it was inferred that he was trying to negotiate a loan, with the bonds pledged as collateral.

Gradually Assuming Its Normal Condition After the Sunday Morning Fire—The Firm Displays Its Usual Amount of Energy and Pluck.

A big corps of men have been working night and day at the Arnfeld Building since Sunday morning trying to get things back to shape, and things are gradually assuming normal conditions.

A member of the firm stated yesterday morning that they expected to resume business Thursday morning. There are thousands of dollars' worth of merchandise in the first-floor salesrooms that were not touched by fire or even water, but it is imperative that every piece of merchandise that was in the building at the time of the fire must be disposed of at once.

DEPOSITS ARE WELL GUARDED

National Laws Provide Special Protection and Assessment Upon Stockholders.

DENY REPORTED SIZE OF BOND

Depositors in the Enterprise bank will enjoy special protection of their funds because of the fact that the institution was a national bank. Under the national banking laws all depositors become preferred creditors, and should the bank be without sufficient funds, the full issue of the stock will be applied to satisfy their claims, as well as the bank surplus and an assessment on each stockholder of 100 per cent on stock held by them.

It is this latter provision which affords the depositors a protection not provided for by trust companies or banking institutions not incorporated under the national banking laws. In the case of the Enterprise bank the stock issued amounted to $200,000, which means, if necessity demands it, the stockholders will be assessed an additional $200,000. The surplus of the bank is given as $200,000, although a man acquainted with the affairs of the institution stated last night he believed the present surplus was in the neighborhood of $300,000. However, taking the figures of January 1 as correct, when placed at $200,000, this, together with the stock and assessment, would provide the depositors with $600,000 in attachable funds if there were no other asset.

Uncle Sam Their Guardian.

Another advantage, if it may be called such, which is enjoyed by depositors in a national bank is that such institutions are under the direct supervision of the national banking commissioner and his examiners, and in case necessity arises for the suspension of business, the depositors have government representation as safeguard their interests when under suspicion of being imperiled.

The state is in no wise a preferred creditor in any other light than as an ordinary depositor, and must take its pro rata share together with other depositors if a shortage should appear. However, state funds on deposit are bonded and any shortage the state may be compelled to suffer through a shortage in any bank must be met by the companies or individuals bonding the state funds on deposit.

In this instance it has been reported that the United States Fidelity and Trust Company of Baltimore and the Mercantile Trust Company of Pittsburgh have each bonded the state funds in the Enterprise National bank to the amount of $500,000.

Admit Bonds Were Given.

The fact that they have bonded the state funds on deposit is not denied, although the amount of the bond given by each company is said to have been $300,000 in each case, this information coming from men identified with the bonding companies. It is also said the directors of the bank, in accord with law, also gave bond to cover the state funds on deposit.

George S. Graham of the firm of Graham & Cotton, local representatives for the United States Fidelity and Trust Company, stated last night that, while the company represented by him had bonded the state funds in the bank, the bond did not total anything like $500,000.

"I am not at liberty to say at this time just what the amount of our bond on the state funds it, but it is not as much as $500,000. I am not prepared to say what action my company would take against the paper held by the bank, provided we were held to make good any loss the state might sustain. In the first place, we have not been informed of any shortage, and I sincerely believe we will never receive such information."

When asked if it were true the bank received large state deposits, Mr. Graham said:

"I understood that at one time the deposits were very heavy, but I do not know how much was on hand at this time. I understand that the state deposit was something like $868,099 last April."

Congressman William H. Graham, who is president of the Mercantile Trust Company, was seen at his residence in North avenue, Allegheny, last night and was questioned regarding the Mercantile's connection with the Enterprise bank. He said:

"Yes, the Mercantile Trust Company carries a bond of the Enterprise bank for a portion of the state deposits. Just how much we have insured I cannot say positively, but I feel certain it is considerably less than half a million. There can be no definite statement made concerning what course will be pursued, for this affair has just happened, and until more is known of it there can be no intelligent determination arrived at. We are the bondsmen for part of the state funds and we will do what is right."

Will Not Be Affected.

Joseph R. Paull, vice president of the Bank of Pittsburgh, National association, the clearing house for the Enterprise bank, was asked last night what influence the troubles of the Enterprise bank would have upon his institution, and replied:

"The Enterprise National bank cleared through our bank and any trouble it may have will not affect the Bank of Pittsburgh, National association, in any manner. The Enterprise had a deposit with us at all times and we paid its checks from this deposit. The account of the bank was handled in precisely the same manner that the account of a private individual would have been. The balance that was kept with us was ample at all times to take care of any day's business that the Enterprise National would have."

BERRY LOSES NO TIME.

Democratic Candidate Takes Up Unfortunate Allegheny Affair to Further His Own Ends.

BELLEFONTE, Oct. 18.—(Special.)—About 600 people were in the court house tonight to hear Mayor William H. Berry speak. In the course of his talk Berry said:

"Since this meeting opened a telegam has been handed to me announcing the failure of the Enterprise National bank of Allegheny, the suicide of the cashier and the sensation it has created, all because of the charges and attacks of Homer L. Castle. This is the bank that was loaded down with the stock of Bill Andrews' 'Air Line and Nowhere' railroad in New Mexico." After reading bulletins of the failure Mayor Berry said: "My friends, I think there have been reasons enough raised in the minds of every intelligent man that that $10,000,000 surplus in the treasury ought to be placed in other hands. I think it is high time that an honest audit be made of the money supposed to be in the treasury."

TAKES HIS LIFE IN HIS BEDROOM

MAN OF VARIED INTERESTS

In the bedroom of his handsome home in Lincoln avenue, Bellevue, T. Lee Clark, cashier of the Enterprise National bank of Allegheny, committed suicide at about 8:30 o'clock yesterday morning by blowing out his brains. The report of the revolver startled the household and a messenger was dispatched to secure Dr. John S. Donaldson and Dr. W. W. McCleery, who have offices near the Clark home. An empty vial, which had contained laudanum, was found by his side, and it is thought he drank the contents of the vial before sending the bullet into his temple.

Clark for many years had been one of the most active business men in this section. He had been a resident of Bellevue for the last 15 years. Since moving to Bellevue Clark is said to have taken the borough to his heart and was determined to use his efforts to make it one of the handsomest suburbs of Pittsburgh. To this end he became a candidate for councils and was elected, and at the time of his death he was still a member of that body. Clark by many is declared to have been the most popular man in the borough.

Praise from His Pastor.

The Rev. W. W. Lawrence, pastor of the Bellevue United Presbyterian church, of which Clark was an elder and a member, stated that Clark was one of the very best of men. He was a keen business man, who desired no greater pleasure than to be with his family, and was a strong man in the church, which he aided as a leading contributor to its support. Dr. Lawrence said Clark was the kind of a man who pushed to the front in everything in which he took an interest, and he was the last man whom any one would expect to commit the terrible deed he did yesterday.

David Carlin, a former partner of Clark and also a member of the borough council, last night said he could advance no other reason for Clark taking his life than that he must have been temporarily deranged mentally. About a year ago, Mr. Carlin said, Clark suffered from a stroke of paralysis while at the bank and his life was dispaired of for a long time. At that time he was taken to his mother's home in Chartiers avenue, where he lay for a long time. He recovered, but some of his enterprises seemed to worry him, and he had been very nervous since his illness.

Could Not Stand Excitement.

In the meetings of the finance, sewer and street committees of Bellevue councils, Mr. Carlin said Clark often, through his clear judgment and experience, was the direct means of stopping measures being passed which would have proved to the disadvantage of the borough. In debate, Mr. Carlin said, Clark was clear-headed and spoke his mind and expected others to treat him likewise. When a question would come up in councils or on committee which would involve an exciting debate, Clark would sometimes remain away from the meetings, as the excitement made him so nervous he would be unable to sleep for the remainder of the night. When he had a business engagement for the day following the date of a council meeting at which he needed his best powers, he would remain away from the meeting.

Carlin said Clark was a man who did not talk much about his business affairs, and for this reason few men could be found who could tell off hand of the great number of corporations and enterprises he was interested in. Clark promoted the Ohio Valley Electric Company and was a large stockholder till the company sold out to the Allegheny County Light Company. He also promoted the Ohio Valley Water Company, which supplies all the small towns and boroughs in the upper Ohio valley.

Worth Half a Million.

Clark was the biggest stock holder in the water company, and at the time of his death he was pushing the water mains of the company back through Esplen and McKees Rocks to Carnegie and the towns in that section. The company is known as a money-maker, and it is said to supply the finest water to the public of any company in this section. He was a large stockholder in the Enterprise National bank, the Moundsville Water Company of Moundsville, W. Va., and the Allegheny Mattress Company. His fortune is estimated at over $500,000. Clark was also largely interested in real estate ventures, and was secretary of the Santa Fe Central Railway Company, the financing of which was largely left to him.

Clark was born in New Athens, O., June 7, 1855, and was a son of the Rev. Dr. Alexander D. Clark, a prominent United Presbyterian minister, who at the time of Clark's birth was president of Franklin college at New Athens. In 1865 Clark's parents removed to Allegheny, where his father became pastor of the Sixth United Presbyterian church, and at the same time held a professorship in the Allegheny Theological semhary.

Educated in Allegheny City.

In his youth Clark attended the public schools of Allegheny and studied at the High school, but he did not finish his course there. On leaving school he secured a position with a carpenter, intending to learn the trade, but after about two years he gave that up and secured a position as general man about the Enterprise National bank. He studied at night in a Pittsburgh business college and by his enterprise worked himself through all the positions in the Enterprise bank.

The bank was a small financial institution when he secured employment with it, but through his ability he brought it to the front.

Clark lived in Chartiers avenue, where his aged mother still resides, till 1890, when he married Miss Delia Carothers of Clinton, which is near the line of Allegheny and Washington counties. He then built his handsome residence in Lincoln avenue, Bellevue. Besides his mother, who is about 75 years old, he is survived by his widow and four children: Mary, Helen, Margaret and T. Lee Clark. The eldest child is aged 15 and the youngest is slightly over one year old.

MEETINGS OF CABINET MUST BE KEPT SECRET

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—The seal of secrecy has been placed on all cabinet meetings. President Roosevelt today mailed to all members of his cabinet a letter saying that they must not give to special newspaper correspondents any information concerning cabinet meetings, nor must they discuss the policy of their departments. Hereafter all information that gets to the public will be given out at the White House, and only so much will be made public as the President desires.

Heretofore it has been the custom for newspaper correspondents to see members of the cabinet after meetings have adjourned and get from them a fairly complete idea of what transpired. Now the President has stopped this avenue of information.

The President's letter is not a request, but is in the form of an explicit order.

DEALS IN REAL ESTATE ON THE NORTH SIDE

Clark and His Partner Open Up Much Territory for the Builders of Homes.

For four years past T. Lee Clark and Joseph M. Hastings have been among the largest real estate investors on the North Side. Their outlays during this period have been, according to the statements of Allegheny brokers, nearly $400,000. They were directly interested in some of the most valuable lot plans on the North Side, and in at least one building operation, which totaled over $100,000.

About four years ago Mr. Clark bought the former Benjamin Flack residence in Lincoln avenue, Bellevue, which he occupied until his death, for about $40,000. The residence is perhaps the finest in Bellevue or Avalon. Something over three years ago Mr. Clark and Mr. Hastings bought the property now known as the Burwood plan of lots, at the end of Termon avenue, in the Eleventh ward, Allegheny, paying for it about $50,000 or $4,000 an acre. They proceeded to grade and otherwise improve the property and lay it out in lots, about half of which have been sold.

In 1904 they bought the Miller property, 15 acres, at the foot of Sheridan avenue, Bellevue, for about $18,000. It was announced at that time the property would be put on the market in residence sites, but nothing has ever been done with it.

Their last purchase, made three months ago, was that of the William Roseburg holdings, 14 acres, in Lincoln avenue, Bellevue, for which they paid $140,000. Of this amount, it is said that $40,000 was cash, Mr. Roseburg taking a mortgage for the remainder. Since acquiring the property the owners spent at least $20,000 in grading the property, so it is now ready for market, although no lots have been sold.

About three years ago Mr. Clark assisted Miss Kitty Huddleston in developing the Huddleston holdings in Lincoln avenue, near the borough line of Ben Avon. There are seven acres in this plot, and Mr. Clark is said to have financed the project by putting the property in shape and building some 15 houses. One of these houses is worth about $20,000. Two others are valued at about $10,000 each, and the remainder are worth from $4,500 to $7,000 each. Only a part of these houses have been sold.

Mr. Clark was also interested in at least one other large real estate operation outside the city. Both he and Mr. Hastings were regarded as quick and ready buyers and they generally pushed ahead with the work improving their properties and never seemed to lack money.

TORRANCE NOT A BORROWER.

Confidential Man Denies That Alleghenian Has Received Loans from the Enterprise Bank.

W. C. Hagan, secretary of the Pennsylvania Development Company and the Santa Fe Central railway, who has for years been the confidential man for Francis J. Torrance, said last night:

"To my personal knowledge Mr. Torrance is not a borrower from the Enterprise National bank of Allegheny. The closest investigation will bear out this statement. Mr. Clark was the treasurer of the Pennsylvania Development Company and the Sante Fe Central railway, and I am not informed how or where he has placed the paper of those companies, as he has personally conducted their financial affairs and was custodian of their bonds."

ANDREWS SAYS HE DID NOT BORROW

F. J. TORRANCE VERY ILL

William H. Andrews, former state senator of Pennsylvania, congressional delegate from New Mexico, president of the Santa Fe Central Railway Company and an officer of the Pennsylvania Development Company, Cashier Clark having been treasurer of both companies, arrived on Tuesday from the east, where he had been in conference with Arthur Kennedy, who practically lives at East Hampton, N. Y.

Mr. Andrews was seen yesterday afternoon in the offices of the Pennsylvania Development Company in the Arrott building. He was asked about the charges made by the president of the Enterprise National bank that he, Andrews, had borrowed $400,000 of the bank's money on the strength of the deposits of state funds in the bank.

"I was very much pained to hear of Mr. Clark's sad fate," said Mr. Andrews, "very much pained, indeed. I knew him well. As for the general charge that I borrowed money from banks on the strength of state deposits, I can only reiterate my emphatic denial, made by telegraph from Albuquerque, N. M., when the charges were first made by Homer L. Castle. I did not borrow any money from the Enterprise National bank on the strength of the state deposits."

Not in a Position to Answer.

"Did you or interests with which you are connected borrow any money at all from the Enterprise National bank?" Mr. Andrews was asked.

"I decline to discuss the subject further at this time," he replied. "I know that Mr. Clark held stock in the Pennsylvania Development Company and the Santa Fe company and several other concerns, but I have no knowledge as to his present holdings or the shape they are in. Francis J. Torrance and Arthur Kennedy have charge of the Santa Fe company, and they alone know how matters stand."

Mr. Kennedy is chairman of the board of directors of the Sant Fe company. He was notified yesterday by telegraph of the suicide of Clark, the treasurer of the company, and he wired to the office in the Arrott building that he would immediately leave East Hampton for "New York and Pittsburgh." He is on his way now and will arrive in Pittsburgh this morning.

A meeting of the boards of directors of the companies will be held in the Arrott building this morning, and it is probable a statement will be given out.

Messrs. Andrews, Kennedy and Francis J. Torrance are also interested in traction companies in Indiana. The auditor of their companies, R. L. McCance, was in South Bend, Ind., yesterday.

Torrance Is Very Ill.

Francis J. Torrance has not been told of the Enterprise bank crash. A call was made yesterday afternoon at the Torrance residence in Western avenue, Allegheny. Mrs. Torrance said her husband, who has been ill for three weeks, was in worse condition than at any time before. Mr. Torrance is suffering from a debilitated nervous condition and since Tuesday night has been confined to his bed. The family physician was sending Mr. Torrance yesterday when word of Cashier Clark's suicide was telephoned to the house. The physician immediately ordered that nothing be said to the patient for fear of aggravating his condition.

Mr. Torrance became ill three weeks ago and recovered sufficiently to get to his office one day last week. Since then, however, he has remained at home, and his condition became worse Tuesday night. He was ordered to remain in bed and his physician says he must not be told anything at present concerning business or politics.

A dispatch to The Gazette from Philadelphia says: "Senator Penrose made this statement tonight:

"'Neither State Chairman W. R. Andrews nor myself have any notes in the Enterprise National bank of Allegheny and we have no knowledge of its affairs. I have no notes in any bank in Pennsylvania.'"

MATHUES DENIES IT.

Squelches a Rumor That Enterprise Bank Received $50,000 of State Funds on Tuesday.

MEDIA, PA., Oct. 18.—(Special.)—When seen tonight State Treasurer Mathues said in reference to a report that $50,000 of state funds had been deposited yesterday in the Enterprise National bank of Allegheny:

"There cannot possibly be any truth in the report of the deposit. I was not at Harrisburg yesterday nor today, and it is unlikely anyone would have made such a deposit without first consulting me."

WOMEN ARE RUN DOWN BY AUTO

As They Alight from Car Machine Rushes Into Crowd, and Four Are Badly Hurt.

WARRANT FOR CHAUFFEUR

An automobile, said to have been driven at excessive speed, and traveling along the car track on North Highland avenue, at 5:45 o'clock last evening, ploughed into a crowd of women who had just alighted from a car, seriously injuring three and perhaps fatally injuring a fourth. The injured are:

MRS. MINNIE CASTLE DAVIS, wife of Charles E. Davis of 5800 Wellesley avenue, severely cut on the back of the head, injured internally and her entire body badly bruised and scratched. She was rendered unconscious and is still in a semi-conscious state. Her condition is serious.

MRS. EUGENE LAPPE, 5920 Wellesley avenue, badly bruised and scratched. Was unconscious for half an hour.

MISS LILLIAN DELAMATER, daughter of Mrs. Anne Delamater of 1005 North St. Clair street, nose broken, badly bruised over entire body and injured intenally. Was unconscious for over an hour.

MISS GERTRUDE KRISSINGER, living with her sister, Mrs. J. B. Miller, 5804 Wellesley avenue, injured internally and severely bruised about the body. Was unconscious for some time after the accident and suffers greatly from shock.

A crowd of six or seven women had got off a Highland avenue car shortly before 6 o'clock and started to cross the tracks to go down Wellesley avenue. As they stepped from behind the trailer an automobile, belonging to Thomas B. Riter of 5612 Ellsworth avenue, and driven by his chauffeur, P. D. Murphy, suddenly appeared out of the rain and crashed into them. Mrs. Lappe clung to the front of the car and was dragged 30 feet, but escaped being crushed. Mrs. Davis, Miss Krissinger and Miss Delameter were knocked down and the front wheels of the car passed over them, after which their dresses caught in the running gear and they were dragged underneath the machine until it was brought to a standstill.

Persons in the vicinity ran to their assistance, and the injured women were taken from beneath the car and into the residence of Henry C. Fownes, where their injuries were temporarily dressed when they were taken to their homes in the automobile. Witnesses to the accident say that the automobile was occupying the city-bound car track instead of keeping to the extreme right of the street, and also say that it was going very rapidly.

Mrs. Davis was returning from a theater party at the Nixon given by Mrs. James Guffey. Mr. Davis had started to meet her with an umbrella and arrived on the scene in time to see her carried unconscious into the Fownes residence. Mrs. Davis was taken home after she regained consciousness, but had several sinking spells.

As soon as a report of the accident arrived at the East End police station, Inspector Bailey made an information before Alderman Negley charging Murphy, the chauffeur, with aggravated assault and battery, and a warrant was issued for his arrest.

CARS IN A COLLISION.

Matinee Crowd Causes an Accident In Which a Woman Is Hurt.

There was a jumble of carriages, automobiles and street cars in front of the Nixon theater yesterday afternoon after the close of the matinee. For almost half an hour the street was blockaded. Fifth and Highland car No. 2369 was struck by Center and Negley car No. 3169. Miss Columb of 228 South Highland avenue was cut over the right eye by broken glass and two men were thrown off the car.

As the mass of vehicles and street cars were gathered in front of the theater the Fifth and Highland car was compelled to stop. The Center and Negley was coasting slowly down the street, and when the motorman tried to stop he was unable to do so on account of wet rails. The car slid into the one in front of it and the impact was so great that nearly all the windows were shattered. Miss Columb was taken into the Safety building, where her injuries were dressed and she went home.

At first the police refused to lend any assistance toward clearing the street, but when the blockade became dangerous Lieut. Grimes and Chief Ordinance Officer Livingston took a hand in straightening out the tangle.

Another meeting will be held on Monday, when it is expected that the class will be organized and a number of the features peculiar to class organization will be settled.

NEGRO'S AWFUL FALL TO DEATH

Steps Into Elevator Shaft in Hotel Newell and Plunges Down Five Floors.

CAR KILLS CRAFTON WOMAN

Thomas Williams, a negro porter at Newell's hotel, was killed at that place yesterday afternoon by falling five floors down the elevator shaft. His skull was fractured and both legs were broken. Williams took the elevator from the first floor to remove the waste paper on the upper floors and take it to the basement. He gathered up the baskets on the second, third and fourth floors.

He was working fast, and when he got off the elevator he did not pull the lever for a full stop. When he jumped off the elevator went to the upper floors. It is thought that Williams gathered up his paper basket in a hurry and thinking he was walking into the elevator cage, he stepped into the shaftway and was killed. He was 25 years old.

Mrs. Jane A. Lyle, aged 68, wife of Capt. W. K. Lyle, former superintendent of the Washington county home, was killed by car No. 225 of the Crafton and Ingram division, in Noble avenue, Crafton, at 9 o'clock yesterday morning. Mrs. Lyle left her home, 18 Mildred street, Crafton, to attend a church convention in Washington county. While passing a building under erection in the street she had to walk out on the car tracks to get around a pile of bricks and other material on the sidewalk. Without noticing the approach of the car she stepped on the track. The car struck her and she went under. Mrs. Lyle's body was so badly crushed it was hardly recognizable.

Mrs. Lyle moved to Crafton from Burgettstown with her family about three years ago. She was a member of the First Presbyterian church, Crafton, and besides her husband, is survived by five children: Wilfred Lyle, of Mt. Oliver; Aaron Lyle, of Washington, Pa.; Mrs. C. A. Daily, of Coraopolis, and Misses Hattie and Jeannette Lyle, at home. Mrs. Lyle was a sister of Attorney O. R. Cooke of this city, and of Mrs. S. C. Farrar of Allegheny.

Edward Gaughan, aged 70, was found dead in bed at his home, 1711 Cliff street, yesterday morning. He was employed as a porter at Union station. Heart failure caused death.

John Miller, aged 17 months, who was accidentally burned on Tuesday, died yesterday at the home of his parents at South Blair station.

John Kellett, whose address is not known, died suddenly on a Pittsburgh & Western train near Valencia Tuesday evening. His body was taken off the train at that station and brought to the Pittsburgh morgue. In his pocket was found transportation to Boulder, Col. Death was due to a hemorrhage.

RODGERS IS PLEASED WITH PARTY WORKERS

Allegheny Republican Leader Issues Instructions for Organizing All the City Precincts.

At Allegheny Republican headquarters last night Judge Elliott Rodgers presided at meetings of the Third, Fourth and Eighth ward city and county committeemen. Instructions in the work of organization were given and all were urged to hustle to roll up a big majority for the Republican candidates at the November election.

"We are having remarkably good meetings," said Judge Rodgers last night. "It is a pleasure to me to get back into harness and renew old acquaintances. The spirit the Republican workers are showing in this campaign augurs good for the party on election day. The workers in our organization now are all clean, intelligent men, and it is a pleasure to work with them. The interest everyone is showing is most encouraging, and I feel sure Allegheny will give the ticket a grand majority in the November election."

Organization meetings will be held tonight at headquarters by the committeemen from the Eighth, Sixth, Ninth and Eleventh wards. The entire city will be thoroughly organized by Saturday night, and the real work of the campaign will commence on Monday.

IS CHARGED WITH FORGERY.

A. C. Dickinson Placed Under Arrest on Information of a Wheeling Bank President.

On the charge of forgery, said to have been committed last July, A. C. Dickinson of 126 Arch street, Allegheny, a clerk in the silk department in a downtown store, was placed under arrest yesterday afternoon by Detectives Speer and King of Allegheny. It is alleged he forged the name of his brother, R. J. Dickinson of Wheeling, W. Va., on two checks on the Dollar Savings and Trust bank of Wheeling.

One of the checks, for $60, he had cashed by the Joseph Horne Company, and the other for $75 by Boggs & Buhl. Dickinson was arrested at his home. He plead guilty to both charges before Alderman Abernathy and was held in default of $50 for court. The information was made by B. W. Peterson, president of the Wheeling Dollar Savings and Trust bank.

ONE MAN SIGNS PAPERS.

Objections Are Filed to Socialist Labor Ticket in Allegheny.

The charge that one person signed the name of a number of other persons to nomination papers was made yesterday by Fred L. Schwartz of the First district of the Seventh ward, Allegheny, who filed objections in common pleas court No. 2 to the petition of the so-called "Socialist Labor Party."

The ticket to which Schwartz objects is headed by Charles A. Kessler as candidate for prothonotary. He objects to the papers because there is a party of the same name already existing, and because the papers were not properly signed.

OFFICER CATCHES TEAM, BUT ONE MAN ESCAPES

James Carr of 40 61st street was arrested yesterday by Special Officer Buckley. The police were notified that two men were trying to sell 500 pounds of copper wire at a junk shop at 1010 Webster avenue. As the officer approached the place Carr and another man jumped on a wagon and drove off. The officer caught up to the team, when one of the men jumped off and escaped. Carr was arrested and will be held pending the arrest of his companion.

Thursday, October 19, 1905.

A kind-hearted gentleman has written from Allegheny to remind the editor the season of the "deadly oil can and the open grate" is upon us. He requests a warning to the public on these dangers that lives need not be sacrificed for lack of a few precautions. The suggestion is good. Grates should be screened and the deadly oil can shunned. Human life is dear.

Citizens campaign managers in Pittsburgh and Allegheny were boasting yesterday of the large campaign funds they have collected. They tried to give the impression certain corporations were contributing liberally. If so, it must have been under stress of blackmail. It is a fact, however, the Citizens administrations in both cities have sweated the public employes for every dollar they could make them give up, and it is a fact their only reliance in the campaign is on the use of money and the payroll brigades.

A new view of the perils of life on the rail is afforded by the statement that of the 51 members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers who died in a single month, 31 were the victims of fatal accidents while engaged in their daily occupation. No such ghastly record is made in any other country. We have come to expect a long roll of railroad fatalities every year. The 31 engineers slain in a single month come from among one of the finest bodies of men in the United States—men whom the nation can ill afford to lose.

The floating exposition of American manufactures which is to leave New York next April on a 60,000-mile journey to Europe, Asia, Africa and South America, should be a valuable stimulus to American trade abroad. Seventy-five seaports are to be visited, with a sufficient stay in each to permit interested persons to make a thorough inspection of the samples of American goods. South America at present seems to afford the best opportunity for American manufacturers, and it is to be hoped the exposition will be especially strong in goods that will appeal to the people of that region.

The statement that of the 750 enlisted men on the Maine, the flagship of the North Atlantic squadron, 700 are entirely free from bad conduct marks, is eloquent of the general improvement in habits among sailors. Sober seamen were rare a few years ago. Only a few decades ago they were encouraged in intemperate habits. Jack tars ashore hastened for the nearest saloon to spend their month's pay. Today there is in the paymaster's safe on the Maine over $33,000 which the sailors have left for safe keeping. Such an exhibition of prudence would astound the old-time sailor were he here to see it.

Presentation of an address to King Edward from an East End borough council, predicting terrible suffering among the poor of London the coming winter and asking a special appropriation for their relief, emphasizes the gravity of the situation. Not in many years have such large numbers of persons been without employment in the metropolis. Yet they continue to flock from the country to the already congested centers of population. The proposed scheme to transport residents of the crowded East End to those districts where there is a dearth of agricultural laborers should aid materially in relieving present conditions.

Apparently the hysterical editor of the Leader hopes to divert attention from the record of the party for which it apologizes by snorting about The Gazette. If that is his idea it fits in admirably with his nomination of Berry in August and his attack on the Citizens party platform by pointing out that organization was entitled to none of the credit for the good record of the county commissioner's office. No amount of dust flinging can conceal the Citizens party pledge breaking or the fact, as Controller Larkin long ago pointed out, that it "has stolen goods in its pockets." It matters nothing to The Gazette whether the lying Leader attacks it or the Orphans. It is always throwing mud at its betters.

For our always Democratic contemporary, the Post, The Gazette is sorry. We had no idea, until its wail was heard yesterday, it was so hard hit. It was a mistake, however, for the Post to expose its sorrow in that manner to an unsympathetic public. True, the license list will no longer be an available circulation boomer for it, but other accidents may happen. The Gazette and its contemporary, the Chronicle Telegraph, may monopolize all of the legitimate enterprise in circulation getting, but they have never entered the illegitimate field, and it is not exhausted. Cheer up, neighbor. Democrats are scarce in these parts, but, one way or another, there is a living to be got out of them.

The Bank Tragedy.

Following the deplorable suicide of T. Lee Clark, cashier of the Enterprise National bank of Allegheny, comes the disclosure he had previously involved the institution heavily. The cashier's personal speculations were quite heavy and he was a large borrower; in addition he made large loans to his business associates on securities now rated by President Gwinner of the bank as very doubtful. It is all an old story, repeated with fresh and melancholy interest at intervals, when trusted bank officials yield to the tempter.

The Enterprise National had large deposits of state funds, secured in the customary manner. This fact has been greedily seized upon by the political scandalmongers and twisted into political significance. A couple of large borrowers having been active in politics has aided this construction. We hear the comment that "state money" has been loaned to "state politicians" as though such a transaction through a bank would be possible, which it is not.

The relation of Pennsylvania to the Enterprise National is that of a secured depositor. Its funds have been loaned, in common with the money of unsecured depositors, to persons who have given securities approved by the cashier. Those debtors may or may not be politicians; they may or may not be solvent. The public is concerned only in the return of the money of depositors; the remainder is the business of the officers and stockholders of the bank. It may well be believed the depositors will be paid in full, though it is probable the stockholders will suffer. The circumstances are deplorable in the extreme. The stockholders, the creditors, the debtors of the bank and, most of all, the family of the dead cashier, are entitled to the sympathy of the community.

Destroying Themselves.

In an effort to evade the recoil on the Citizens salary board of the Citizens platform charge of an undue increase in salaries, a decision of Judge Bailey has been dug up. A Republican salary board objected to certain increases in the office of the clerk of courts. Judge Bailey decided the head of each office had the right to say whether an increase in his office force was needed, and "the salary board, unless able to disprove this, was required to assent." Precisely. The Citizens salary board did not attempt to prove the increase unnecessary; did not even protest. The natural inference is the increases were needed, and the reactionary platform declaration was simply an empty bluff.

One thing has been demonstrated, and one only. A Republican salary board did object to an increase in salaries which it deemed unnecessary, but failed to prove its conclusions. The Citizens in county offices have done precisely what their Republican predecessors did in the same offices; have failed to find any wrongdoing and have condemned themselves by adhering to the notorious pledge breakers—the organization of which Controller Larkin said on July 25, 1904: "Neither he nor any other man can restore the Citizens party to confidence while it has stolen goods in its pockets. There must be true repentance and that repentance must include restitution by the repeal of the boulevard, bank and water grabs. Until this is done the Citizens party cannot hope to enjoy the confidence of the voters of Pittsburgh."

There has been no repentance, no restitution, no repeal. Still quoting Mr. Larkin, this organization should be relieved of its public trust. And it will be.

Mr. Roosevelt at Richmond.

While presidents of the United States are not chosen for their oratorical ability, though a conspicuously unsuccessful candidate once received his nomination on that score, there is cause for congratulation in the fact that so many of our chief executives have been good speakers. A president is so often called upon to talk in public that when he is not able to perform his part with credit it is a source of much embarrassment and chagrin to his supporters. Benjamin Harrison and William McKinley were noted for their speeches, which seemed to fit every occasion. President Roosevelt is a speaker who never misses fire. His address at Richmond yesterday was adirably suited to the time and place. It preached the gospel of Americanism, as thus defined:

This government was formed with, as its basic idea, the principle of treating each man on his worth as a man, of paying no heed to whether he was rich or poor, no heed to his creed or social standing, but only to the way in which he performed his duty to himself, to his neighbor, to the state. From this principle we cannot afford to vary by so much as a hair's breadth. Our aim must be to deal justice to each man; no more and no less.

Mr. Roosevelt's statement regarding the administration's position toward the new responsibilities arising from the construction of the Panama canal was clear and forcible. "In undertaking to build the Panama canal we have necessarily undertaken to police the seas at either end of it, and this means that we have a peculiar interest in the preservation of order in the coasts and islands of the Caribbean."

All of President Roosevelt's speeches are characterized by sturdy Americanism and sound common sense.

An Honest Opinion.

Gov. Pennypacker's speech in Philadelphia last night, which is printed on another page of The Gazette, comprises as fair a view of the Philadelphia situation as could be composed. For the veto of the gas franchise he praises Mayor Weaver, as he does the mayor's other efforts for reform, but he denounces the mayor's pledge of himself and every part of his administration for partisan purposes, as that act should be denounced.

Again Gov. Penypacker gives due credit for such effort as has been made to protect the city against dishonest contractors. He touches Israel Durham's connection with a contracting firm with no gentle hand, but here he also recognizes the difference between the personal act of a citizen and that of a sworn servant of the people. Above everything Gov. Pennypacker takes the judicial view and presents his argument as logically, as fairly and as forcefully as if it were an opinion from the bench.

Having dealt with Philadelphia issues as a citizen and taxpayer of that city, Gov. Penuypacker turned to the state campaign, naturally as something apart. His thought was happily framed, his reference to Justice Stewart leaping from the heart, inspired by long friendship and years of admiration for the Franklin county jurist. Just as sincerely he testified to the integrity and fitness of J. Lee Plummer. The governor was not speaking at random, but from intimate knowledge of his subjects. This speech ought to free the political atmosphere of much of the fog and venom that have burdened it. It is so altogether dignified, fair and logical as to be beyond just criticism. It should be read, every word of it.

Hall Caine and Uncle Sam.

The well-known advertising expert and warm admirer of the author of "The Christian," Hall Caine, has joined the class of which Henry James and G. Bernard Shaw are prominent members—the class of critics of things American. Mr. Caine is surprised at "the small and fleeting impression" which the Spanish war of 1898 has made on the minds of the American people. He also wonders at the small progress we have made in esthetics since his last visit to our country, and is unfavorably impressed with the new crop of skyscrapers that have sprung up in New York. Our men are engrossed in business to the extent of neglecting the intellectual side of their natures (we seem to have heard this before somewhere). Our women pursue false ideals of culture to the neglect of their homes (another old one). Our Manxman friend has still another cause for mental disturbance. He doesn't find any of us over-anxious for an Anglo-American alliance. This he cannot understand. Therefore he is grieved. An Anglo-American alliance would assist the sale of his books, perhaps, thereby extending the influence of civilization.

The inevitable conclusion is that Mr. Caine likes our dollars better than our people. As we rise in the intellectual scale we shall buy more of Mr. Caine's books, and fewer of Marie Corelli's, and then we shall some day receive the long-desired approval of the man who looks like Shakespeare. It is a hard way to win such a boon, but then we have to work for everything worth having in this world.

It was not expected the characterless Leader would feel shame at being convicted as a liar. But considering its total lack of reputation, does it never consider whether "the game is worth the candle," as it said of Cunliffe?

If all the people in this country who have been buncoed in one way or another were suddenly to be mowed down by the grim reaper, this nation would make a mighty poor showing in the next census.

According to William Allen White, Kansas Populists no longer wear whiskers. They intend to stand up for their peculiar principles in the most barefaced manner possible.

The Post calls the prosperity of its rivals an "insult." It is sometimes hard to look at the other fellows' success through rose-colored glasses.

Now the subject has been suggested, what do Commissioner Clark and Candidate Dempster think of the road building program for next year?

So the Citizens party loses all claim to consideration. The good record was made by Commissioner Evans and the other Republican on the board.

"Policemen, avoid politics," said Commissioner McAdoo of New York to his men. The McAdoo type of man is a perpetual puzzle to "Buck."

Women are to carry larger pocketbooks this winter, says a fashion authority. This means that some men will carry theirs lighter.

Grady of the golf links ought to appreciate what sacrifices the Leader is making for him—sacrifices of the truth.

Until the police finish their job of vote gathering every man will have to be his own policeman.

The Democratic orators continue to make more noise than converts.

The Sudden Awakening.

A lawyer in New York connected with the wrecking of a bank and the looting of a trust estate has just committed suicide, supposedly to escape trial. The mills of the gods grind slowly, but they grind exceedingly small. Looting in its various shapes has become so ordinary that the sense of danger has been lulled to sleep, and the sudden awakening which is now taking place will prove a thunderbolt to more than this victim of discovery and disgrace.—Baltimore American.

Only Relief in Sight.

Freight blockades on railways, especially in the west, are reported to be increasing in seriousness. The only permanent relief for this trouble is the improvement of the waterways.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

QUIET OBSERVATIONS ON WAYS OF WORLD

Graft Is an Animal Characteristic, Whether Found in Brutes or Men.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

The cup of joy is a great wide cup
Brimful of the rarest wine,
And many a lip will come and sip
The sweetest drafts with thine;
But you who have tasted the dregs of life—
I fathom the thought you think:
The cup of sorrow is made so narrow
That only one heart can drink.

The path of pleasure is broad and smooth
And leads through a lovely land,
And he who shall stray that happy way
Can find him a merry band;
But well you know who have walked with woe,
And a smile have sought in vain,
That he goes alone with tear and moan
Who follows the path of pain.
—Nixon Waterman.

We hear a great deal concerning graft in these latter days, but it is no new thing.

As a matter of fact, it is as old as animal life on the this earth, the beginning of which no man can know, or at least no one can give day and date of its beginning.

Grafting simply means to get something that belongs to another without giving anything in return. This is usually accomplished by the grafter attaching himself to another in such manner as to draw sustenance from him, something after the manner of attaching a branch, or slip, from one plant or tree to another of more vigorous or hardier growth from which it derives it sustenance, while it continues to produce fruit after its own kind.

There are certain animals, birds and fishes that live by attaching themselves to others and feeding upon their provender.

Another form of graft peculiar to animals is to compel other animals to give up the food that has been given to them, or which they have provided for their own use. Some animals resort to various devices to get "graft," particularly the man animal!

The more independent and man-like a man becomes the less is he disposed to seek graft, to live in hopes of picking up something rather than earning it, or to attach himself to someone in such manner as to draw sustenance from him.

A strictly honest man desires only that which he has earned by honest effort, and will refuse that which rightfully belongs to another.

Young men sometimes envy the gents of leisure whom they see posing in front of saloons, restaurants and places of resort for idlers, sports and grafters.

Such young men have not been properly educated and instructed. They regard money as the one thing that can bring happiness. It may bring pleasure of a kind, but happiness only comes with success in life; that is, with doing something that is worth while, which means something that will benefit others, and through them benefit the world.

Tolstoi says, "A life for self can have no meaning."

All real success and happiness depends upon the purpose for which you live, and not upon the amount of money you have to spend for this or for that passing entertainment.

Some need money with which to carry out the purposes for which they live. These, as a rule, get all they need. There seems to be a rule of nature that whatsoever is necessary will be forthcoming. Or according to the old saying, "Where there is a will there is a way."

What need has the artisan for more money than is necessary to buy the reasonable comforts of life? With these and his employment he has all that is necessary to success in his calling. With money, lands and chattels to look after he would be compelled to neglect his real business in life.

Money is a most exacting taskmaster, for to keep it one must be continually on guard, and even then it is liable to slip away, dollars being more slippery than the proverbial eel.

Money may be a great blessing and it may be a great curse. No doubt you can recall many instances where it has blighted the lives of men and women, who might have been successful as wage-earners or employed in some business in which their energy would have been directed in useful channels.

It is this purpose in life, not the money they control, that makes men good and great. Is it not most important, therefore, that more attention be given to the development of definite purpose in the life of every boy and girl?

In this our system of schooling is very defective, inexcusably if not shamefully, defective.

We school too much, and do not educate enough. The boys and girls coming from our schools have no purpose in life, their tastes have not been sufficiently developed to indicate their fitness for any particular calling, and they know not which way to go. They know that money will buy toys and jim-cracks, and transient pleasures, and it is for these they sigh, and for these they pay their money as fast as they get it.

Too often men and women work solely to get money with which to buy toys and jim-racks rather than to enable them to achieve success along profitable and worthy lines.

Passing pleasures are usually found along lines leading to dissipation, speculation and gambling.

It is really essential to the success of boys and girls that they be taught the law of compensation, and made to understand it. Following is an excerpt from Emerson's famous lecture on this subject:

You cannot do wrong without suffering wrong. "No man had ever a point of pride that was not injurious to him," said Burke.

The exclusive in fashionable life does not see that he excludes himself from enjoyment, in the attempt to appropriate it. The exclusionist in religion does not see that he shuts the door of heaven on himself, in striving to shut out others. Treat men as pawns and ninepins and you shall suffer as well as they. If you leave out their heart, you shall lose your own. The sense would make things of all persons; of women, of children, of the poor.

The vulgar proverb, "I will get it from his purse or get it from his skin," is sound philosophy. All infractions of love and equity in our social relations are speedily punished. They are punished by fear. Whilst I stand in simple relations to my fellowman, I have no displeasure in meeting him. We meet as water meets water, or as two currents of air mix—with perfect diffusion and interpretation of nature. But as soon as there is any departure from simplicity, and attempts at selfishness, or good for me that is not good for him, my neighbor feels the wrong; he shrinks from me as far as I have shrunk from him; his eyes no longer seek mine; there is war between us; there is hate in him and fear in me.

All the old abuses in society, universal and particular, all unjust accumulations of property and power, are avenged in the same manner. Fear is an instructor of great sagacity and the herald of all revolutions. One thing he teaches—that there is rottenness where he appears. He is a carrion crow, and though you see not well what he hovers for, there is death somewhere. Our property is timid, our laws are timid, our cultivated classes are timid.—Ralph Waldo Emerson.

TRAVEL TO EUROPE ON THE EUROPEAN PLAN

Big New Liner Furnishes Meals a la Carte—Working Girls Open New Club.

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Newest and largest of the trans-Atlantic steamships, the Amerika of the Hamburg-American line, is expected to reach here Friday on her maiden trip from Hamburg, and one of the passengers on her maiden trip is Herr Emil Paur, director of the Pittsburgh orchestra. With the exception of a billiard room, fire escapes and a swimming pool, the Amerika combines all the comforts and luxuries to be found in the best clubs and hotels, and she can boast of many features which no other ship afloat possesses. The greatest innovation, however, is the fact that the trans-Atlantic passenger will be able to cross the ocean for the first time a la carte. One will be able to purchase on the Amerika on the American plan, including meals in the regular dining-room, after the plan in vogue on all liners, or on the European plan, paying for meals as they are ordered. This is where the new restaurant on the upper deck comes into use. It will be a bit cheaper to go to Europe a la carte than by the time-honored American plan, living on the table d'hote furnished by the steamship's caterer. The difference will be about $15. The company is a student of human nature, knowing the failing one has for spending more for an a la carte dinner than for one of the table d'hote order. The person who saves $15 on his ticket by buying an a la carte passage will probably find that the temptations of the new restaurant will prompt him to turn into the treasury of the Amerika much more than the difference in the price of a table d'hote and an a la carte passage.

Not So Hilarious as Philadelphia Variety.

The Clover club, not the one in Philadelphia that was famous for years for its tactics with invited guests, but a new luncheon club for working girls and women, opened today in West Twenty-third street. The new club is built along the lines of a sister organization downtown, where the majority of the members are stenographers. The girls employed in the shopping district are the ones to be benefited. The dues are 25 cents a month. The member waits on herself and pays her check, which each day costs the girl not a member five cents. There is the parlor, and, while no men are admitted to the club proper, there is a reception room where the escort may wait until the member of the Clover club has eaten her luncheon.

One Vote Cinched for Jerome.

George W. Morgan, state superintendent of elections, has tendered his resignation as a member of the Republican county committee to Chairman Halpin, because he means to vote for District Attorney Jerome. His resignation has not yet been acted upon. Announcement of the action of Superintendent Morgan was made by Lawyer Herbert Parsons today. "I suppose," said Mr. Parsons, "that Superintendent Morgan declined to act further as a member of the committee for two reasons. One was that District Attorney Jerome was not placed on the Republican ticket, and the other that he means to vote for Mr. Jerome."

Another Old Landmark Gone.

During the week just passed another of the links between the New York of the present and of the past was swept away in the march of progress. All that remains now of the historic Burnham house, built 167 years ago at Seventy-ninth street and West End avenue, are the remnants of four walls, heaps of rubbish and broken laths and plaster. John Jacob Astor, who owned the old house, demolished it to have an uninterfered-with foundation, running clear from the boulevard or Broadway to West End avenue and from street to street, for his 23-story family hotel, which will be the largest of its kind in the world.

Once Sheltered Gen. Washington.

Washington made the Burnham house his headquarters with Lord Cornwallis close on his heels, and had a narrow escape from falling into the hands of the advance guard of the enemy. When Washington went northward the English commander took possession of the place and made it his headquarters for some days. It was in this house also that the British general, Lord Howe, died. When at length peace was proclaimed and the last British soldier had sailed away, the house, which had suffered little during the stress of war, became a tavern, and tavern under one name or another it remained to the end.

McAdoo Unearths Conspiracy.

Commissioner McAdoo declared flatly today that "some one" was trying to thwart Police Captain Dooley, the new commander of the Tenderloin precinct, and he asserted as positively that he would continue to stand by Mr. Dooley. Mr. McAdoo said: "I am convinced that there is a conspiracy on foot to 'do' Capt. Dooley. I believe there are some men—whether they are inside or outside of the department, I shall not say—who are trying every way they can to embarrass, obstruct and impede his work."

Crank "Goes After" Jerome.

Shouting that the district attorney had cheated him out of fees several years ago as a witness in the "red light" investigations, and threatening Mr. Jerome and his chief clerk, Henneberry, a wild-eyed man, who calls himself Jacob Meyer, but who is known to the police as "Frenchy," aroused the criminal courts building this morning by an assault on the door of the district attorney's office. After a struggle with policemen and building employes, he was captured.

TRUTH ABOUT THE CHINESE BOYCOTT

Governmental Relations of China and United States and Popular One.

By WILLIAM R. STEWART.

Scarcely has the treaty of Portsmouth brought to a close the war between Japan and Russia over Manchuria before there has begun the preliminary skirmishing in a contest for commerce in the far east, which is destined to be in many respects without parallel in the world's history. In this struggle Japan will again be a principal, but instead of a single opponent she will be confronted by the United States, Great Britain, Germany, Russia, France, and, in lesser measure, by other trading nations of Europe.

As a market for foreign exploitation China has increased in importance during the past 10 years almost beyond reckoning. With a population of 400,000,000 persons, whose purchasing power probably has almost doubled since 1895, it is little wonder that that country now is focusing the attention not only of private merchants and manufacturers, but also of the governments of the leading nations.

To consider the trade interests of the United States alone, it is certain that at the present time the outlook for expansion in the far east is not promising. The "open door," for which Japan went to war with Russia, is for the moment fairly well filled by the expansive form of the Japanese tradesman, and when his American rival manages to squeeze past him, he is met by the handicap of the existing boycott on American wares.

Governmental vs. Popular Relations.

While China as a nation may be grateful to the United States for the stand which the government took in the negotiations following the Boxer uprising, and also for Secretary Hay's note to the powers on the preservation of the integrity of the Chinese empire, the people, little concerned with world politics, are influenced by the ever-present reminder of the treatment of their race in America to protest against which it is that the boycott was declared. In other words, the governmental relations of China and the United States are fairly good, the popular relations bad.

For a long time the individual Chinaman has been ostracised by other people. He is determined that this shall continue no longer. The treatment accorded the Chinese in America is well known. But even in China itself prominent Chinese merchants and bankers have been subjected to indignities by Americans and Europeans with whom they have had business dealings. They have not been allowed to treat directly with the heads of foreign houses, but have been obliged to stand in line, like coolies, in the office of the manager, who has acted as intermediary. In this there has been a series of insufferable vexations which have alienated from Americans and Europeans the heart of the Chinaman.

The Japanese have not been slow to take advantage of Chinese resentment at this treatment. The Japanese understand their fellow kinsmen, learn their language rapidly, and blood is thicker than water. They have aspirations much in common and are knit together by the same kind of sentiment against the west that Emperor William would invoke against the east.

Japanese Influence.

Not only are Japanese banking and the Japanese system of education being extended throughout China, but the future judiciary of the latter country and its military system will be wholly Japanese.

While American sales in China fell from $24,722,000 in 1902 to $18,898,000 in 1903, and to $12,852,000 in 1904, Japan has increased her trade at a rate unequaled by any other country. Since 1895 Japanese trade with China has been trebled.

It is not to be inferred from these facts that a Japanese commercial domination of China is inevitable. Much more capital than Japanese merchants and manufacturers are yet able to command, and a far more highly organized manufacturing system than at present exists in Japan, will be necessary, together with years of effort, before it can hope for an unchallenged supremacy in the east.

Some of the features of the Japanese commercial advance on the mainland of Asia are suggestive. The colonization of Korea by Japanese has been repeated in Manchuria on a large scale. Japanese civilians have been permitted to enter the country freely, and An-tung, Feng-wang-Cheng, Mukden, Dalny and Niu-Chwang have become populous Japanese cities.

Foreign-trained Japanese are becoming an important factor in the professional situation in China. They are often well trained—most of them either directly or indirectly American-trained—and they will work for fees which an American could not afford to accept.

It is important to observe that foreigners desirous of doing business in China cannot afford to ignore the fact that the average Chinaman, whether official or merchant, considers himself superior to the American or European, and it becomes therefore necessary to acquire a knowledge of the language and manners of the people. With such knowledge a foreigner can cause an entire change of sentiment in his idividual case, and carry through a business affair with an ease which is conspicuously lacking when an interpreter is required.

A knowledge of Chinese money and of the system of exchange is necessary on the part of the foreigner doing business in that country.

Task of Internal Reform.

It is not reasonable to anticipate the same rapid development in western methods in China which has attended the history of Japan during recent years. If for no other cause, the different temperament of the race will prevent it. But it is quite certain that China has entered upon the task of internal reform and transformation and that the movement will not go backward. Japanese influence is now on the ascendency in China, and as has been stated, this influence makes for a notable increase of Japanese trade as against the trade of other countries.

Japanese influence at Pekin is predominant, not only in diplomatic circles, but also in educational, industrial and commercial. China is being taught how to pursue her naturally innate mercantile proclivities by being inspired with a certain respect for the military spirit without the obligation to bear any of its burdens.

Secretary of State Root has entered upon his duties with a big problem before him. When his predecessor, Mr. Hay, interfered to check the European powers in China he had our trade interests there very clearly in view. The subject is even more pressing now. The loosening of Russia's grip on China will revolutionize conditions in the orient, and if one of the most important markets in the world is to be saved the handicap to American trade must be removed. The Pacific coast states, which were the most anxious for the exclusion of the Chinese, will be the greatest sufferers if the present boycott in China continues.

STORIES FOUND IN THE LOBBIES

Interesting Happenings Concerning the People Who Are Traveling.

Benjamin Franklin Butts, the former well-known musical director of the Second Presbyterian church of Pittsburgh, spent yesterday here visiting his friends. Mr. Butts now has his headquarters in New York, but will spend the next three months in a tour of the western half of the United States, singing at Young Men's Christian association meetings in the larger cities. He will leave Pittsburgh over the Wabash this morning for St. Louis, where he will sing at the Y. M. C. A. on Sunday. He will be at Kansas City the following Sunday and at Omaha a week later. In his trip west he will also visit his mother at Fort Dodge, Ia.

"It is not that the Pittsburgh hotels are not good enough," said a traveling man last night, "but it is simply the fact that the facilities for caring for the traveling public are wanting in quantity; the quality is all right. Pittsburgh has some excellent hotels, but she ought to have more of them. I have seen night after night when people have been turned away from a hotel because there was no room. Most of them likely found accommodations elsewhere, but this is not what the people like. They don't want to go room hunting. They want to be cared for at once, for usually they are tired from a railroad ride."

Some Warm Reflections.

There are some men who claim to have been Republicans who are fighting today shoulder to shoulder with the enemies of the Republican party for the purpose of controlling for their own personal and selfish ends a few county offices. And these traitor Republicans, baffled in their ambitions, are appealing to the good people of this county to vote for men who are neither Republicans nor fit to hold public office. We believe that between this and election day there will be such an uprising of the true Republicans of Washington county that the hypocritical movement will be buried so deep with the avalanche of votes on November 7 that it will never be able to raise its head among decent people.—Washington Observer.

SMILES.

He preached the smilin' doctrine,
'Loved a smile would cure all ills;
An' said a laughin' fever
Cud allus meet his bills.
Never met him but he didn't
Cry out, "Cheer up, Bill, an' smile;
Life ain't such a dreary burden,
Sorrowing's surely worth the while."

Said a smile was real, an' trouble
Didn't hev no place in life;
An' recommended smilin'
To appease an angry wife.
Said there weren't no use in sweatin',
Said too hell worth would be gay
If a man would jes' imagine
That the sun shone every day.

He preached the smilin' doctrine,
That was all he had to do;
An' I've noticed that it's easy
From the proper point of view.
But one day this smilin' preacher
Bumped his toe real hard, an' then
He forgot his laughin' preachin',
Joined the ranks of swearin' men.

Oh, the preachin' part is easy,
But the practicin' is tough;
And when you're likely to be called,
Don't try to work a bluff.
If you're teachin' smilin' lessons—
Which are worthy lessons, too—
When trouble hits your system,
Folks will want a smile from you.

UP TO JEROME TO TAKE ACTION

An Arrest for Perjury May Follow Investigation Into the Mutual Life.

KEPT OPEN HOUSE IN ALBANY

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—The district attorney's office was called upon today by the legislative insurance investigating committee because of the testimny of a witness. The question of his arrest for perjury is now being considered by Assistant District Attorney Rand. The witness in question is George J. Plunkett, an 18-year-old telephone operator in the employ of the stationery firm of L. W. Larence & Co., from whom the Mutual Life Insurance Company purchased a great deal of its supplies of this nature.

It was brought out in yesterday's testimony that among the vouchers for money charged to legal expenses was one for $901, signed by George J. Plunkett. His identity was not disclosed until today, when Plunkett was called to the stand. He testified as to his employment, and when shown the voucher denied he had ever signed it. He further denied he had ever received that amount of money from the Mutual Life Insurance Company or had rendered the company any service.

Mr. Hughes asked Plunkett to write his name in ink on a piece of paper, which he did. This and the voucher were then offered in evidence, and the similarity of the signatures was called to the attention of the committee.

Up to Jerome Now.

Shortly after this incident, the sergeant-at-arms was sent to communicate with the district attorney's office and soon Mr. Rand appeared. He critically examined the signatures. Chairman Armstrong later said the matter was now out of the hands of the committee and "up to the district attorney's office."

Another feature of the day's hearing was the passage at arms between Chairman Armstrong, Counsel Hughes and James M. Beck, counsel for President R. A. McCurdy. Mr. Beck accused Mr. Hughes of misleading the public by not following out his lines of interrogation to the end, and asserted Hughes dropped a subject before the witness was allowed to explain.

Chairman Armstrong then said the work of the committee must not be obstructed. The committee, he said, wanted all the helpful information it could get, and the witness had placed himself in the position he found himself, by his continual evasive answers. Mr. Armstrong further said every witness will be treated with all possible courtesy.

Mr. Hughes then said if he had erred it was by showing courtesies when circumstances justified an entirely different course, adding evasion would be held up to the contempt it has always received. There was a spontaneous outburst of applause when Mr. Hughes had concluded, which was stopped only by a threat to clear the room.

Kept Open House in Albany.

William M. Carpenter, a clerk in the supply department of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, made an excellent witness for the committee by his frank manner and apparent desire to give whatever information he could in the matter before the committee. Mr. Carpenter was under the direction of A. C. Fields, the superintendent of this department, and was very close to Mr. Fields in his "legislative supervision" at Albany.

Mr. Carpenter told of how a house has been maintained in Albany for several years at the expense of the Mutual Life. Mr. Fields occupied it only during the legislative session, and on several occasions two members of the insurance committee of the legislature lived at the house with Mr. Fields. Mr. Carpenter leased the houses and paid for the servants and supplies with money furnished him by the Mutual Life. No account was kept of these expenditures, and the money was all received on vouchers calling for disbursements for legal expenses. A house has been maintained for 10 years in Albany under these conditions.

Later in the day when Mr. McCurdy was recalled, the president said he did not know that the Mutual Life's funds had been maintaining a house, although he did know Mr. Fields had rented a house to escape the risk of illness in hotels.

Jordan Has Vanished.

An attempt was made by Mr. Hughes today to get trace of Thomas D. Jordan, former controller of the Equitable Life Assurance Society. Frank B. Jordan was called under a subpoena and he said he saw his father last Labor day. He did not know then that he was going away, and did not know where he was now. Under persistent questioning by Mr. Hughes, young Jordan said no mail was forwarded to his father and he did not know whether his father or his mother were living or dead.

Edgar W. Rodgers, a clerk for L. W. Lawrence & Co., was called, and was represented by John B. Stanchfield. Rodgers is also the president of the Globe Printing Company. He was shown the Plunkett voucher and said he was of the opinion the signature on the voucher and that written by Plunkett on the stand were identical.

A voucher drawn in December, 1902, for $1,067 50 and signed by Rogers, was charged to legal services of the Mutual Life, but Rogers could not remember the circumstances of a transaction so far back. He acknowledged the voucher bore his signature and that he must have received the money, but for what it was disbursed he could not remember. The checks for which both Plunkett's and Rogers' vouchers were signed were ordered to be produced, and they will be presented at a later session of the committee.

GRAND LODGE CONCLUDES ITS BI-ANNUAL SESSION

State Organization of Knights and Ladies of Honor Adjourns—Constitution Is Changed.

The grand lodge of Pennsylvania of the Knights and Ladies of Honor adjourned its biennial meeting yesterday afternoon in Elk's hall, Smithfield street and Fifth avenue, after a two-day session. Last evening the visitors were the guests of Braddock and Haddock lodges at a joint class initiation held in the hall of the Haddock lodge, Dinwiddie street and Fifth avenue, when 31 new members were taken in.

At the opening of the morning session Grand Protector H. M. Ilyns of this city, and Mrs. Bertha McCune of Braddock, grand guide, were presented with bouquets by the Haddock and Braddock lodges. The balance of the morning session was devoted to hearing reports of committees and passing upon routine business. Franklin was selected as the place of meeting two years hence, although efforts were made by Pittsburgh, Erie and Cambridge Springs to secure the honor.

During the afternoon the new officers were installed with the impressive lodge services, after which a few changes were made in the grand lodge constitution to conform with the changes made in the recent session of the supreme lodge in Indianapolis. The most important of these changes were the approval of the new sliding scale permitting one year members to collect but one-third of their death benefits; two-year members 50 per cent and third-year members 80 per cent; after the third year of membership the full face of the insurance policies are to be paid. Another innovation is the addition of a $250 life insurance policy.

"Edith" polishes

Every household that uses gas knows what havoc it plays with silverware—and how difficult the silver is to clean after it has been gas tarnished.

"Edith" Silver Polish is beyond doubt the best Silver Polish known for use in a section where natural gas is used—it absolutely cleans silver as bright as new and it's a lasting brightness—easily applied and won't scratch the silver.

Bring the worst example you can find and let the demonstrator at first floor quadrangle clean it for you.

GOOD FEELING AMONG WORKMEN AT ISTHMUS

Chairman Shonts Says Chief Engineer Stevens' Methods Changed Conditions on Panama Canal.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Chairman Shonts of the Isthmian canal commission made the following statement of his observations on the isthmus of Panama during his recent visit:

The most encouraging feature of affairs on the isthmus, observed by every person who had been there previously during the last six or eight months, was the improvement in the feeling among the men. Chief Engineer Stevens' methods and personality are making a strong impression and creating confidence in his measures. We heard nothing but good things from the men as to their present surroundings and future prospects.

In addition to the fumigating of the houses at Panama and Colon, the isolation of the patients and the cutting of grass and vegetation around the camps, heretofore employed as means of prevention, the department is now thoroughly cleaning the cities of Panama and Colon, draining swamps near towns and camps, filling in the lowest places and thus eradicating breeding places for mosquitoes.

You Are a Skillful Piano Player If You Have a Pianola-Piano

You do not need to possess any knowledge of music whatever to play the piano beautifully, artistically, if you have the Pianola-Piano.

The Pianola-Piano is a combination of the Piano and the Pianola. The piano is itself a fine instrument of the highest grade, and may be played by hand as any piano is played. It is likewise no larger than other pianos. Inside of this piano, however, is the Pianola.

Although you may not know one note from another, the Pianola enables you to sit down at the piano and play anything you please—the repertoire of the Pianola-Piano is practically endless.

The Pianola-Piano has this great advantage: It is always ready. Whether you have studied music for years or are only a novice, you are at once an expert musician if you have the Pianola-Piano.

Whether you wish to manipulate the keys yourself or have this work performed for you by the Pianola, the Pianola-Piano is always at your service.

MULTITUDES WELCOME THE PRESIDENT

Mr. Roosevelt Accorded Hearty and Sincere Greeting in the South.

MAKES SPEECH AT RICHMOND

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

RICHMOND, VA., Oct. 18.—Richmond today threw open her gates to President Roosevelt and during the seven hours of his stay, state and city officials and citizens accorded him a welcome, hearty and sincere. The presidential train arrived a few minutes after noon and from that moment until 7 o'clock tonight, when he departed for Raleigh, N. C., he was given an ovation. His entry into the city was the signal for a wild demonstration from a multitude and the welcoming enthusiasm only ceased when his train continued on its journey through the south. Mrs. Roosevelt shared in the honors and Mrs. Montague, the wife of the governor, gave a reception at the executive mansion in her honor.

The President made several addresses, one at the capitol square before one of the largest crowds ever assembled in Virginia's capitol, another at a banquet in Masonic temple, where 400 of the representative people of the old Dominion were gathered about the boards, again at the Lee monument, where he spoke to a large number of Confederate veterans and once more at a gathering of negroes. At the capitol the President spoke as follows:

First on the Honor Roll.

I trust I need hardly say how great is my pleasure at speaking in this historic capital of your historic state, the state than which no other has contributed a larger proportion to the leadership of the nation; for on the honor roll of those American worthies whose greatness is not only for the age but for all time, not only for one nation but for all the world, on this honor roll Virginia's name stands above all others. And in greeting all of you, I know that no one will grudge my saying a special word of acknowledgment to the veterans of the civil war. A man would indeed be but a poor American who could without a thrill witness the way in which, in city after city in the north as in the south, on every public occasion, the men who wore the blue and the men who wore the gray now march and stand shoulder to shoulder, giving tangible proof that we are all now in fact as well as in name a reunited people, a people infinitely richer because of the priceless memories left to all Americans by you men who fought in the great war.

Last Memorial day I spoke in Brooklyn, at the unveiling of the statue of a northern general, under the auspices of the Grand Army of the Republic, and that great audience cheered every allusion to the valor and self-devotion of the men who followed Lee as heartily as they cheered every allusion to the valor and self-devotion of the men who followed Grant. The wounds left by the great civil war have long healed, but its memories remain. Think of it, oh, my countrymen, think of the good fortune that is ours! That whereas every other war of modern times has left feelings of rancor and bitterness to keep asunder the combatants, our great war has left to the sons and daughters of the men who fought, on whichever side they fought, the same right to feel the keenest pride in the great deeds alike of the men who fought on one side and of the men who fought on the other. The proud self-sacrifice, the resolute and daring courage, the high and steadfast devotion to the right as each man saw it, whether northerner or southerner, these qualities render all Americans forever the debtors of those who in the dark days from '61 to '65 proved their truth by their endeavor.

We of this nation, we the citizens of this mighty and wonderful republic, stretching across a continent between the two greatest oceans, enjoy extraordinary privileges, and as our opportunity is great, therefore our responsibility is great. We have duties to perform both abroad and at home, and we can not shirk either set of duties and fully retain our self respect.

Must Play a Part in the World.

In foreign affairs we must make up our minds that whether we wish it or not, we are a great people and must play great part in the world. It is not open to us to choose whether we will play that great part or not. We have to play it; all we can decide is whether we shall play it well or ill. And I have too much confidence in my countrymen to doubt what the decision will be. Our mission in the world should be one of peace, but not the peace of cravens, the peace granted contemptuously to those who purchase it by surrendering the right. No! Our voice must be effective for peace because it is raised for righteous cause first and for peace only as the handmaiden of righteousness. We must be scrupulous in respecting the rights of the weak, and no less careful to make it evident that we do not act through fear of the strong. We must be scrupulous in doing justice to others and scrupulous in exacting justice for ourselves. We must beware equally of that sinister and cynical teaching which would persuade us to disregard ethical standards in international relations, and of the no less hurtful folly which would stop the whole work of civilization by a well-meant but silly persistency in trying to apply to peoples unfitted for them those theories of government and of national action which are only suited for the most advanced races. In particular we must remember that in undertaking to build the Panama canal we have necessarily undertaken to police the seas at either end of it; and this means that we have a peculiar interest in the preservation of order in the coasts and islands of the Caribbean. I firmly believe that by a little wise and generous aid we can help even the most backward of the peoples in these coasts and islands forward along the path of orderly liberty so that they can stand alone. If we decline to give them such help the result will be bad both for them and for us; and will in the end in all probability cause us to face humiliation or bloodshed.

The problems that face us abroad are important, but the problems that face us at home are even more important. The extraordinary growth of industrialism during the last half century brings every civilized people face to face with the gravest social and economic questions. This is an age of combination among capitalists and combination among wage-workers. It is idle to try to prevent such combinations. Our efforts should be to see that they work for the good and not for the harm of the body politic.

Our aim must be to deal justice to each man; no more and no less. This purpose must find its expression and support not merely in our collective action through the agencies of the government, but in our social attitude. Rich man and poor man must alike feel that on the one hand they are protected by law and that on the other hand they are responsible to the law; for each is entitled to be fairly dealt with by his neighbor and by the state; and if we as citizens of this nation are true to ourselves and to the traditions of our forefathers, such fair measure of justice shall always be dealt to each man, so that as far as we can bring it about each shall receive his dues, each shall be given the chance to show the stuff there is in him, shall be secured against wrong, and in turn prevented from wronging others. More than this no man is entitled to, and less than this no man shall have.

FIGHT IS COMMENCED ON PRIVATE CAR LINES

Interstate Commerce Commission Contends That Railroads Can Give Lower Rates.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—What promises to extend into a legal and legislative battle against private car lines was precipitated by the interstate commerce commission by the course taken today, at the beginning of the hearing instituted to show the connection between refrigerator car lines and railroads.

Counsel for the commission directed every effort to bring out the fact that great railroad systems operating their own refrigerator car lines give to their shippers a much lower rate for refrigeration than is obtained on roads that are compelled to operate in connection with private car lines. In this the railroads, notably the Illinois Central and the Pennsylvania, through their traffic freight managers, who were on the stand the greater part of the day, apparently aided the commission.

The action of the commission in initiating and prosecuting the complaints has the double purpose of establishing its jurisdiction over private car lines and correcting the evils comolained of. The chief contest is expected to develop on the point of jurisdiction.

G. D. Dixon, freight traffic manager of the Pennsylvania railroad, explained the use of refrigerator cars on his line. He said that refrigerator cars owned by the Pennsylvania are iced by the shipper, but re-icing, when necessary, is charged on the bill of lading. He said that the road has no connection with the Armour or any other private line, but pays three-quarters of a cent a mile for their use. He stated that the road owns its own icing stations and ices any cars that need it. Jersey City was mentioned as an illustration and Mr. Dixon said the road received $4.50 a ton for ice. Mr. Dixon testified that the Pennsylvania railroad owns 3,100 refrigerator cars, and supplies them to shippers at a less rate than shippers are compelled to pay for private cars.

ELSIE IN MANHATTAN — A GREAT STORY —BY— O. HENRY. ...In Next... Sunday's Gazette

A very successful civil engineer, a gentleman whose judgment on real estate is entitled to respect, owing to the experience he has had in purchasing and surveying properties in the various parts of Greater Pittsburgh, has purchased a lot in

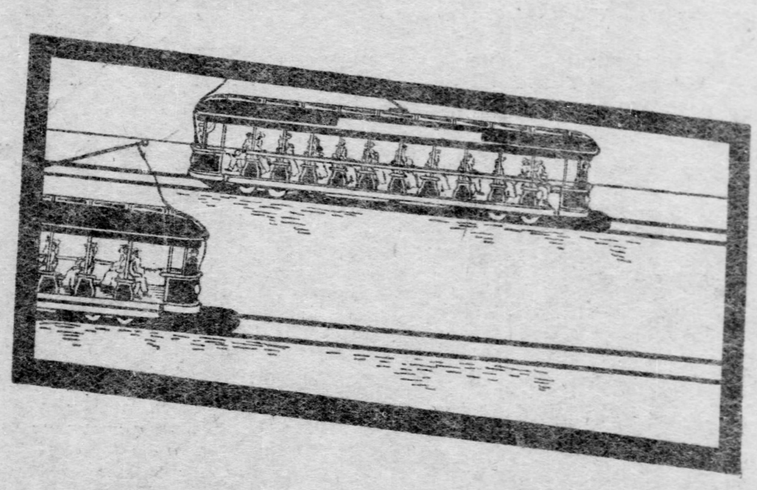
2nd. Ward BROOKLINE

in Oxford avenue, and is building a nice home there.

"Why didn't you go to the East End?" asked a friend.

"Because I am sometimes called to my office on very short notice, and can reach it from here in fifteen minutes. I have even now two lines of cars within a few steps of my door, and when the new One-Per-Cent-Grade trolley is built there will be three lines to the city from this property. All scheduled for a 15-minute run."

THREE TROLLEYS. We have never promised more than two. Yet here is a real fact that we have overlooked.

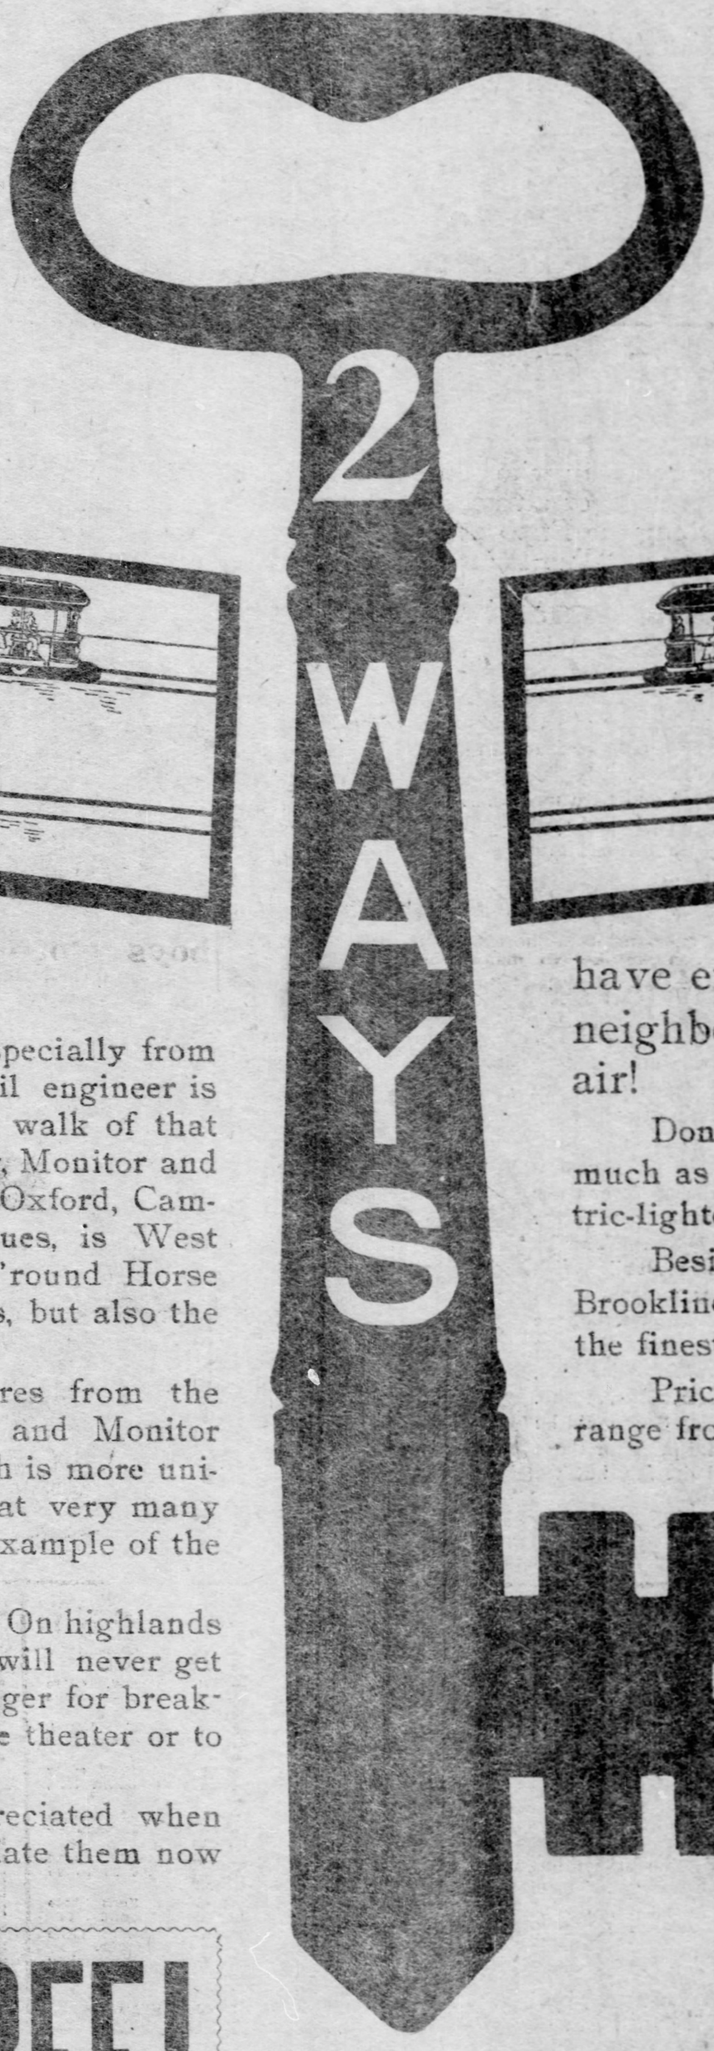


There will be three trolleys, after all. Especially from that part of the Second ward where the civil engineer is located, because within two to four minutes' walk of that section of Brookline which is bounded by Lang, Monitor and Trenton avenues, embracing the frontages of Oxford, Cambridge, Beverly, Winthrop and Salem avenues, is West Liberty avenue, where in their grand swing 'round Horse Shoe Bend not only the Brookline cars pass, but also the Mt Lebanon cars.

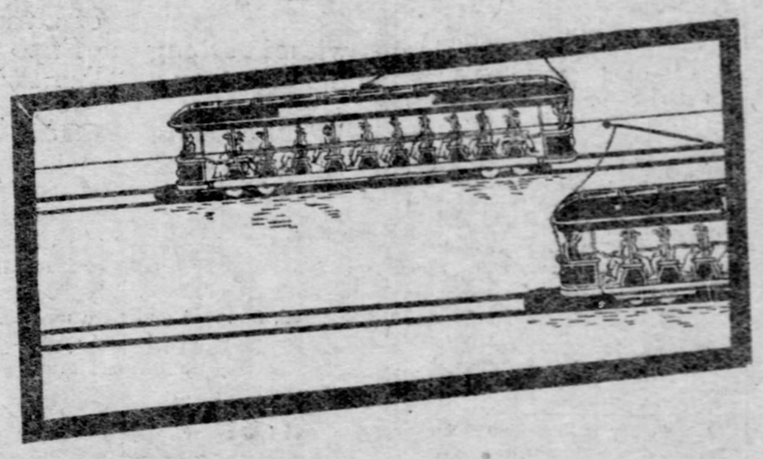
Oxford avenue is therefore just two squares from the Mt. Lebanon cars, while Lang, Cambridge and Monitor avenues are but one square. When this truth is more universally understood, there is little doubt that very many homeseekers would be glad to follow the example of the civil engineer.

Two ways to town! Three after awhile! On highlands absolutely above the fog line! Where you will never get the soot clouds, and can have a half hour longer for breakfast and a half hour more to get ready for the theater or to go out calling.

These are benefits that will be fully appreciated when you are living in Brookline. You can appreciate them now only in an anticipatory way.



Picture what this Grand New White City will be when all of its matchless magnitude of civic and highway comforts have been completed.



You will have every convenience that any fashionable neighborhood possesses---more, too. Pure air!

Don't forget about the pure air. It is doing as much as the 15-minute trolleys and the paved and electric-lighted streets, to make Brookline popular.

Besides the electric lights and the paved streets Brookline has granolithic sidewalks, macadamized streets, the finest and largest sewerage system, city water, etc.

Prices for double-size lots, with building restrictions, range from

$75, $100, $150,
$200, $250
$300, $350
$400 to $1,200

on terms of 5 per cent down and 2½ per cent monthly for balance, with no taxes nor interest for you to pay for two years.

OBATION GIVEN LEADERS

In so far as the mayor has endeavored to prevent those by whom he was surrounded from improperly benefiting themselves at the expense of the city treasury, he has received and he ought to receive, the support of every good citizen.

But He Went Too Far.

If the mayor had rested there and been content to exercise the powers of his office for purposes such as these, he would have deserved all of the encomiums which have been heaped upon him and he would have done much for the improvement of public life in Philadelphia. Unhappily the situation in Philadelphia has been taken advantage of by shifty politicians to advance their own interests, and unhappily the mayor has forgotten the functions of his office in announcing himself as the leader of a political movement. He has done much more and much worse. He has promised to use the powers entrusted to him as mayor to aid the political cause to which he has given his adhesion. In his speech of the 16th of September he uttered these words: "I now pledge my administration in all its parts to the assistance and to the help of the good people of Philadelphia to bring about this fall the overwhelming defeat of the organization."

With this assumption of leadership in a political movement reformation perished. The control over the police is given to the mayor of the city by the people solely for the maintenance of the peace; the control of the firemen is given to the mayor solely for the purpose of the prevention of conflagration, and yet the mayor deliberately pledged not his personal effort, but every part of his administration to the accomplishment of a political purpose and the defeat of the party which had elected him. It may well be doubted whether any public official in America ever before made such an announcement. There have no doubt been occasions in the past where mayors and other officials have surreptitiously used the members of their administration, including the police, for political purposes, but never before, so far as I know, has the proposition been proclaimed by the official and become the policy of a party.

Committed Inexcusable Wrong.

I am one of those who think that a recent powerful political leader committed an inexcusable wrong when he participated in the benefits of contracts made with the city, for the reason that his influence ought to have been exerted for other purposes than his own pecuniary advantage, but after all he was a professed fighter of political battles. The position of the mayor is different. The power he wields he did not win. It was given to him in trust. It is no answer to say that good is intended. A man who has misappropriated funds placed in his hands for a particular purpose cannot excuse himself by saying he gave them to a Sunday school.

Upon you as the representatives of the dominant political party in Pennsylvania rests responsibility. You want to so conduct yourselves that the affairs of the city and the commonwealth may be in the future as they have been in the past, an example that other peoples may worthily follow. It is not enough that those selected to do the work of the state are of such excellence in their respective spheres as Carson, attorney general; Montgomery, state librarian; Dixon, commissioner of health; Groome, superintendent of compulsatuary; Knox, in the United States senate; and Stewart, in the supreme court.

It is not enough that your pure food laws and factory inspection laws are enforced here as nowhere else in the country; nor that the baking powder bill, wiping emolument, caused so much scandal and iniquity in Missouri, was torn to flinders and thrown into the waste basket of your own legislature; nor that the profit has been so eliminated from the printing that it was difficult to get a state printer to undertake the contract; nor that you are building a capitol for half what it cost Massachusetts and one-sixth what it cost New York, and paying the sum out of your revenues.

Want the Best Results.

We want to be not only better than the rest but to secure the best results attainable. We want not only to confute the scandal mongers, but to silence him. There are still ways in which the public service may be improved. Let us then be up and doing. Let us then, you and me, "make a pledge" not to defeat our enemies, but that without delay and strenuously we will work together hereafter as heretofore for the public welfare until the escutcheon is altogether bright, that primarily the commonwealth and incidentally the party may both be benefited.

The campaign in the state presents an extraordinary situation. No higher tribute has ever been paid by one political party to the virtues of another than is indicated by the conduct of the Democratic and Lincoln parties toward the Republican party in their refusal to nominate a candidate in opposition to John Stewart for the supreme court. They have in effect said that the Republican party in exercising the important function of selecting a candidate for one of the highest offices in the commonwealth has been so wise and pure that its action has been beyond criticism and meets even their commendation.

A party which does so well in selecting a justice may be trusted to select the state treasurer. There is no reason whatever why any sensible person who has been a Republican should give his vote to Mr. Berry. The only real reproach which has ever been cast upon Pennsylvania since her settlement occurred when, under Democratic auspices she temporarily repudiated her debt. That party once had control of her treasury and it left her with a debt of $40,000,000, which, since the Republican party assumed charge of her finances has been all paid. By their fruits ye shall know them.

A man who is at the same time a Democrat, a free silver man and a Prohibitionist is too erratic to be trusted with revenues which amount to $23,000,000 a year.

I have had the opportunity to know Mr. Plummer, to see his work as chairman of the committee on appropriations of the House and I have faith in him. He is, in my judgment, capable, honest and safe and ought to be elected by a large majority.

Let the Republican party continue its battle until the day of election with every assurance of success, and with the determination when successful to so manage the affairs of city that it will deserve the plaudits of all men and receive the approval of the wise and honest.

High Standard of Nominees.

Senator Penrose after the cheering subsided said in part:

We can appeal fearlessly to the people of the state in behalf of all our nominees. Our candidates for justice of the supreme court and those for judges of the superior court, in private life and public service, exemplify the highest type of Republicanism and the best citizenship.

To the head of the ticket, the Hon. J. L. Plummer, our candidate for state treasurer, we point with particular pride. His successes have come to him by his personal worth and unaided efforts. He was nominated because he deserved it and because the Republicans of Western Pennsylvania deserved, through him, this recognition; and there was no bargain or understanding between him and anyone other than that he should conduct the office of state treasurer upon a high plane of honesty and efficiency. He will be elected treasurer by one of the largest majorities ever given a state treasurer in Pennsylvania.

No one of all the states can exhibit such a wise and beneficent financial system as has been created in Pennsylvania by Republican legislation and administered by Republican treasurers. In few other states can it be said that the burdens of state taxation have been practically entirely lifted from the shoulders of the individual and placed upon the corporations of the state.

If the present contest in Philadelphia was a struggle between honest-meaning protesting Republicans and the so-called "organization" of the party, the issue could be fairly presented to the people for their final judgment, to which all would manfully bow; but it is a battle with a few political conspirators disappointed in their struggle of inordinate ambition and debauchery. The Republican party has not now to deal with the dispassionate convictions of Republican people who desire the correction of municipal abuses; it has to deal solely with the political interests of John Wanamaker and Judge Gordon.

Organized a Conspiracy.

Failing to obtain honors earnestly sought for by the exhaustive employment of cant, hypocrisy and unblushing political debauchery, they organized a conspiracy to deceive and inflame intelligent citizens into revolutionary action. Wanamaker has acquired within his household the ownership of the North American, that masquerades as a Republican journal, and the Record, that masquerades as a Democratic journal, and he believes that the time has come when he can overthrow the Republican organization of the city and state and seize control of party authority.

Gordon is, and has been for some years, Wanamaker's paid attorney and contributing editor to the twin Wanamaker daily journals. Wanamaker hopes to make himself a United States senator and Gordon hopes to make himself a Democratic governor, and the interests of both are mutual to this extent, that they require the overthrow of the Republican party.

The Republican party in Pennsylvania is in entire accord and harmony with the administration of President Roosevelt. It was largely through the efforts of our Pennsylvania people that he was nominated for the vice presidency. Pennsylvania was the first state in all the union to indorse him for renomination for the presidency. Our Republican representatives at Washington have acted in cordial co-operation with the President; they are now acting in cordial co-operation with him and they will continue so to do. As far as I am personally concerned, I can say that it has been a gratification to me to have his confidence and to aid him in his efforts.

I believe in all legislation that tends to perfect and secure most easily, effectively and accurately the actual verdict of the electors upon the candidates and matters submitted to them. I also believe that the election laws and machinery should be simple, easily understood and free from complication; that thereby the public will may be expressed more freely at the polls. No political leadership and no political organization can survive for any length of time upon a suppression or distortion of the popular will by frauds at the ballot box.

Whatever may be the varying views of practical men upon the question of personal registration of voters, a difference of opinion that has heretofore delayed the passage of proper legislation to this end of the Pennsylvania legislature, I am convinced for one that there exists an unmistakable sentiment demanding its enactment, and I pledge myself to exert whatever influence I may possess in the next legislature to bring about the enactment of a law providing for the thorough, complete and effective personal registration of voters in the cities of the state. All candidates for the legislature on the Republican ticket throughout the state should be called upon to pledge themselves in good faith to support this legislation, and the next state convention, which will be called upon to nominate a governor and other important state officers, should pledge the party to the enactment of such legislation, in good faith and in unmistakable terms.

I respect, and have counted among my friends, many of those now with the opposition in the Republican party under a misunderstanding, as I believe, of the facts, and I shall always be glad to co-operate with them upon bona fide lines of reform. I can appeal without fear to those who have been familiar with my efforts in the state to bear me out in saying that I have endeavored at every point to raise the standard of integrity, honesty and efficiency in public administration, and I yield to no man in my zeal for the betterment of political and governmental conditions. Those who know of my efforts will give evidence of the fact. As a native of Philadelphia, descended from Pennsylvania ancestry, I may be allowed to lay claim to some inborn civic patriotism, and it is not founded upon cant or demagogism.

Threatened With Violence.

The Hon. Peter Boyd opened by saying he had received many letters threatening him with personal violence if he spoke at this meeting. Then he proceeded to arraign the City party in part as follows:

My indictment against the City party tonight is not against the individuals of that party, but against the spirit and moving force of that party—a spirit which if carried to its logical conclusion would lead eventually to mob and lynch law, and to the destruction of American institutions.

The leaders have made use of criminal process for political ends. They have delayed the trial of accused persons for political purposes. They have endeavored to coerce the district attorney into arresting alleged offenders without a preliminary hearing, and giving to the accused an opportunity of confronting and cross-examining his accusers. They have used and are using all the power of the police and fire force to intimidate intended voters and to procure ballots for their party. In defiance of the civil service regulations they have assessed and discharged officeholders for political purposes.

The City party had a few of its employes at the academy meeting and several efforts were made to interrupt the speakers. They were not successful. After the big meeting a gang of City party marchers disturbed one of the overflow meetings and nearly caused a riot. Another delegation of City party boomers, colored, went into the Seventh ward looking for trouble. They found it. Several are now in the hospital and others ought to be.

RIOT AT PHILADELPHIA.

White Men and Negroes Have a Conflict at a Political Meeting and Are Dispersed by Police.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 18.—There was a small riot between a crowd of white men and boys and negroes at a City party meeting in the southwestern part of the city tonight. An open-air political meeting in which mostly negroes participated was being held at Twenty-third and Pine streets when a crowd of whites tried to break it up. The meeting was only temporarily interrupted.

Later the negroes marched through the neighborhood and were again attacked. The fighting became general, and there was a liberal exchange of stones and pistol shots. One negro was struck on the head with a piece of rock and so badly injured that he had to be taken to a hospital. The crowd was dispersed by the police, but no arrests were made.

Accuses Boy of Numerous Thefts.

Roy Roberts, aged 17, of Seventh street and Penn avenue, was arrested by Detectives Cole and Eagan last night at his room, and is being held as a suspicious person. Roberts with Frank Dixon, aged 19, of Craig street, who is now in Morgenza, are said to have been stealing satchels from the Union and Baltimore & Ohio railroad stations for the last six weeks.

CUNLIFFE'S BIG STEAL IS ON THE INCREASE

Examination of Express Company's Accounts Show Another Shortage of $11,000.

Edward G. Cunliffe now figures as the hero to a $112,000 robbery. An investigation of the books of the Pittsburgh office of the Adams Express Company show that the absconder secured $11,000 in addition to the $1,000 taken from the company's safe and the $100,000 package which was shipped by the Farmers Deposit National bank. These defalcations show he had his schemes well planned in advance.

Cunliffe had sole charge of the money-order window in the express office for several weeks, and it is alleged that during that time he had an opportunity to help himself freely of the company's funds. These peculations were not discovered until his books were audited. This work is just now being done.

The discovery was made Monday. Immediately the tip was given to the conductors and other employes of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. To them it was stated that Cunliffe had escaped with $11,000 more than it had first been charged against him. It was given out that the clerk has been systematic in his efforts to secure all the money possible from the company, and in every move where he could secure the cash without being quickly detected, he promptly availed himself. This also offers conclusive proof for the theory that he had premeditated the robbery.

If Cunliffe goes to a distant country he will doubtless use Adams express orders. It has been discovered that he could accumulate a great number of these in advance under assumed names and thus would be able to travel in any country on the globe without fear of identity and without the necessity of breaking the big bills which he took from the company.

C. H. Hiner, local manager of the Adams Express Company, was asked about the $11,000 theft, which has lately been shown on the books. He refused either to affirm or deny the story.

"It's the first we've heard of it," was all he would say.

William E. Braun was held for court by Alderman McMasters yesterday on a charge of embezzlement. Braun was an agent of the Adams Express Company at Homestead, and it is said a traveling auditor of the company found a shortage of $89.01 in his accounts.

PHILADELPHIAN IS JAILED IN NICARAGUA

Relatives of Fred W. Murphy Get State Department to Investigate His Case.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 18.—Fred W. Murphy, a Philadelphian, is in a Central American prison, unknown to most of his relations and friends here. He was convicted of killing his guide last March and was sentenced to ten years in jail at Managua, Nicaragua. His aged mother and his brother, who live in this city, are said to be in ignorance of his fate.

The state department at Washington has investigated Murphy's case through Consuls Donaldson and Merry, but has not made public the result of its inquiry.

Murphy went to Nicaragua October 16 of last year to look after the mining interests of his aunt, Miss Margaret Walk. She had become interested in the mines through William C. Albers, also a Philadelphian, who recently figured in a sensational arrest and is now in the same jail with Murphy for defying the Nicaraguan government. Murphy started from the mines for Corinto with a guide known as "Mosey." When he entered an inland town, several days later, he was alone and he reported his guide had been murdered.

The authorities made an investigation and placed Murphy under arrest on the charge of murder. He was tried several weeks later, convicted and sentenced to ten years' imprisonment. In letters received from Murphy by his relatives in this city he hints at a plot to get him in just such a predicament. It is this hint that the state department is investigating. Miss Walk, the aunt, and her lawyer, Edward W. Magill, are pushing the investigation.

CARTER SAYS GEN. OTIS PLOTTED HIS DOWNFALL

Also Says Pennsylvania Railroad Official Warned Him Attorney General Griggs Was Corrupt.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Oberlin M. Carter, who was convicted of embezzling $2,000,000 from the government, before Special Examiner Wyman today asserted the finding of the courtmartial which declared Carter guilty was the result of a conspiracy among the officers constituting the courtmartial.

"My investigation by the courtmartial was an infamous farce," said Carter. "Gen. Otis, the presiding officer, was found one night in the office of the prosecuting attorney plotting to have me convicted, and a high official of the Pennsylvania railroad told me that Attorney General Griggs was corrupt and advised me to have nothing to do with him."

Carter described the manner in which his books and private papers were seized by government officers while he was absent in Europe in October, 1897. Certain papers, he said, he intended to use to prove that many of the prosecution's witnesses committed perjury at the investigation by the courtmartial, are missing. He accused the officers of the courtmartial and board of inquiry with having taken them in order to deprive him of the use of the documents at his defense.

Prolonged warm weather has given them a thirty-day respite, but who'd wear a straw hat in November—and November only 12 days away. We meet the pressing need of the hour with three lines on which any woman, economically inclined, can save from $1 to $2.50.

The $7.50 Line—This includes perfect copies of imported models on which flowers, ostrich plumes and birds' wings are the prevailing garniture—same as on the $10 and $15 Hats.

The $5 Line—As up-to-date in style, and seemingly as fine in material as the $10 Hats you've seen displayed in other show windows. Nobby Suit Hats and Tailored effects are much in evidence in this collection. We are also introducing the new Flower and Rose Turban at this popular price.

The $2.98 Line—A choice from 200 Hats as beautiful as ever graced a woman's head at an outlay of less than $5. Velvets artistically draped and deftly combined with desirable trimmings; felt hats trimmed with quills, wings and flowers; stiff hats for street dress—in fact, the self-same designs that you see everywhere in the $5 and $6.75 groups.

URSINUS IS DOWNED BY QUAKERS, 39 TO 0

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 18.—The University of Pennsylvania overwhelmed Ursinus today, 39 to 0, but the victory was accomplished only after the two Ursinus ends had to be helped from the field, the one with a dislocated shoulder and the other with a broken collarbone. Snyder and Abel were the injured men. The former played in but three or four scrimmages when his shoulder was dislocated and he had to retire. Before the first half was over Abel, who played on the other extremity, sustained a broken collarbone and also had to give up. What makes both accidents all the more mysterious is that the game was one of the cleanest played on Franklin field this year, there being so little roughness that it was generally commented upon. Lineup:

The navy scored three touchdowns in the first half and kicked two goals. In the second half two touchdowns were scored and both goals kicked. The feature of the game preceded the scoring of the last touchdown. Decker received the ball from Higgins' punt on the visitors' 40-yard line. POTTSTOWN, PA., Oct. 18.—(Special.)—Although outweighed by its opponents, the Hill school eleven defeated the strong Princeton freshmen this afternoon, 21 to 0. Minims Beat Gallant Reserves.

The Pittsburgh College Minims beat the Gallant Reserves on the college gridiron yesterday afternoon, 5 to 0. In the beginning of the game the young Bluffites played so fast that the visitors were almost dumfounded, when the first and only touchdown was made after one minute of play. But the Gallants took a brace and held their ground firm. The lineup:

Princeton.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 18.—(Special.)—The Tigers went through a good, though not brilliant practice this afternoon and scored six touchdowns, two of which were due to some brilliant running on the part of Dillon, who picked up the ball on the varsity's fumbles and managed to get around the scrub in very effectual manner. Most of the gaining was done on end runs by the backs, and the whole team showed a tendency to work together. The only thing that conspicuously marred the playing was the bungling work of Tooker and Fryer, who did some very poor tackling. Tooker was in place of Brasher, who is suffering from a broken nose, received in yesterday's scrimmage.

Westminster.

NEW WILMINGTON, PA., Oct. 18.—(Special.)—Practice was held here today in a heavy rain. All the regulars were out and a hard 15-minute scrimmage with a scrub team was played. In the game with Slippery Rock tomorrow many of Westminster's regulars will not be used on account of staleness, but will be saved for the Geneva game on Saturday. Hugh Lamble, Doyle and Clark of the regular team will not go to Slippery Rock. In punting practice with a heavy ball today Capt. Locke punted 56 yards and also kicked two goals from the field.

W. and J.

WASHINGTON, PA., Oct. 18.—(Special.)—The work of the varsity is not encouraging. The W. and J. academy eleven today held them well and the scrubs who went in later scored a touchdown with little effort. The varsity team has been doing poor work on the defense. Tomorrow's practice will be the last hard one before the game on Saturday with Allegheny college.

W. U. P.

In spite of fog and drizzling rain, Coach Mosse had the W. U. P. squad hard at work yesterday. Scrimmage practice has been abandoned for the rest of the week in order to have the men in good shape for Cornell. The punters were busy again. Schmidt and Campbell doing some good work in this line. With Zieg out of the game indefinitely, it is up to the coach to develop a good man for the kick-off. The eleven is now working in fine order and fumbling has been almost entirely eliminated.

Cornell.

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 18.—(Special.)—The critics at Cornell are beginning to feel a bit skeptical about the football situation. For the first time in two weeks the varsity was given hard scrimmage practice this afternoon. A 20-minute period was played against the first freshman eleven and the failure upon the part of the regulars to make more than two touchdowns causes wonder if the tactics of the coaches for the past two weeks have been effective.

Pittsburgh College.

The Pittsburgh college sophs put in two hours' hard practice yesterday afternoon. Signal practice and scrimmage work were the principal features of the afternoon's work. Noonon and Quinn are showing up great at guard.

Michigan Game Called Off.

ANN ARBOR, MICH., Oct. 18.—Owing to the wet, sloppy condition of Ferry field, the game scheduled for this afternoon between Denison university and the University of Michigan was called off.

The Ton Dus are a new team and will improve with experience. The Brunswicks showed a new line-up from last season, having two new men in Frey and Schumaker. Schumaker is an ex-member of last year's East Pittsburgh team, and proved to be a tower of strength to the champions, having high average for the match. Hartman had high score of 203. For the Ton Dus, Zimmerman had high score and average. Scores:

The bowling season was opened at Millvale last night by a match game between the Millvale and Cecelia clubs, of the Allegheny County Bowling league. The event was celebrated with considerable enthusiasm among lovers of the sport, but in spit of the large turnout, the scores were generally below those accustomed to being made by the average manipulator of the boxwood balls. It is thought, however, that the next meet between the teams will note a decided improvement. The highest score of the evening (211), was made by Captain Gus Viard, of the Millvale team. The next highest was made by Neidhart of the Cecelias. The Millvale team took three straights from the Cecelias, and never was the result in doubt from the beginning. Scores:

OAKMONT GOLFERS WIN FROM ALLEGHENY CLUB

Match Is Played on Sewickley Heights Course and Score Is 8 to 0.

In the best team match of the Western Pennsylvania Golf association's championship series yesterday on the Sewickley Heights links, Oakmont Country club defeated Allegheny Country club, 8 to 0. Oakmont had already won the championship. The issue was in doubt till the last two pairs got in. J. F. Byers and C. B. Fownes, David Baxter and G. A. Ormiston. The four preceding pairs had all even matches. Fownes won his match, 6 up, and Ormiston was three to the good. J. F. Byers was off in his putting and Ormiston played the best golf of the afternoon. It looked like Allegheny's match and they were quite confident of winning it. Oakmont knowing the match would be a close one brought Dr. D. P. Fredericks down from Oil City to play for them. He is a member of Oakmont.

A more even match could hardly be played than the one between E. M. Byers for Allegheny and W. C. Fownes, Jr., for Oakmont. Neither had a lead of more than one. Byers won the first hole and Fownes the second. The latter took the lead at the fourth hole and Byers squared the match at the eighth, the pair reaching the half on even terms. Byers won the tenth and Fownes the next. Byers took the lead again at the 12th and retained it to the long hole which went to Fownes and the match was all even. Byers laid his opponent a stymie at the 17th and the latter paid him the same compliment at the 18th. Byers negotiated beautifully a stymie at the 13th. The cards were:

Fownes—
Out	5	6	4	4	4	5	4	5	4—40
In	5	3	4	3	5	4	4	5	2—36—76
Byers—
Out	4	6	4	5	4	5	4	4	4—40
In	4	4	3	3	5	4	4	5	5—37—77

The all even match between Dr. Fredericks and R. F. Nevin, Jr., was also an interesting one. Nevin won the first, Fredericks the second, Nevin the third and eighth and stood two up at the turn. Coming home Fredericks reduced the lead to one at the 10th hole, but Nevin made matters all square again at the 15th and they halved the home hole. The cards were:

Fredericks—
Out	5	5	4	5	4	4	3	6	5—42
In	4	5	4	3	6	4	3	5	4—39—81
Nevin—
Out	5	6	4	4	4	4	3	5	5—40
In	5	4	4	4	6	5	5	5	4—42—82

George A. Ormiston was in remarkably good form, especially on the greens holding many long puts. He offered perhaps the best golf of the day. His greatest lead was at the 11th, 13th and 15th holes where he stood five up. He won the first, second and fifth holes on the outward journey and was three up at the turn. Adding the 10th and 11th he had a lead of five. Baxter picked up one at the 12th, but Ormiston got it back at the 13th. Baxter then won the 15th and 17th and the match ended, Ormiston three up. The cards:

Ormiston—
Out	5	4	3	4	4	5	4	5	4—38
In	4	4	4	2	5	5	6	5	4—39—77
Baxter—
Out	6	5	3	4	5	5	4	5	4—41
In	5	5	3	3	5	4	6	4	4—39—80

O. D. Thompson was three up on his Oakmont opponent, George MacPherson, at the turn and looked the winner, but was caught in the homeward trip. James H. Childs and H. C. Fownes made the turn on even terms and ended their match that way. J. F. Byers and C. B. Fownes were also square at the half, but the former fell off in his putting coming home and lost five in a row. Byers beat Fownes in the spring match by the same margin that the latter won by yesterday, five up. The individual results were:

Holds Pugilist for Court.

Fred Zehringer, who has some reputation as a pugilist, was sent to jail for court by Alderman Abernathy yesterday. Two informations, one for assault and battery, and one for malicious mischief were made against him by George Pardick, who keeps a restaurant in East Lacock street, Allegheny. Pardick says Zehringer went to the restaurant, beat him and smashed a number of mirrors.

TERRY M'GOVERN WINS IN ONE SHORT ROUND

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 18.—(Special.)—The Terry McGovern-Tommy Murphy glove contest here tonight brought together the largest crowd of well-known sporting men that has gathered at any fight since the days when the good old game was flourishing in New York. Pittsburgh was well represented at the ringside. Among the Pittsburghers present were young Tom Carnegie, Charley Donnelly, Jr., Gilbert Rafferty, Jr., who used to play football on the old Three A team, and who now makes his home in New York; Joe Giesenkamp, George Gelder and Rody Marshall. McKees Rocks was represented by a delegation headed by Myles Dryan and Bob Boles.

By the time the first preliminary was started the house was packed to suffocation and the New York delegation set up a howl to bring on the main bout. The last preliminary was over at just 11 o'clock and a yell went up when Murphy, who was the first to enter the ring, was seen coming down the aisle. The cheers that greeted him were mild to the ovation tendered McGovern when the latter got through the ropes. He was kept busy shaking hands and nodding to his friends, who kept yelling at him and wishing him good luck. While he looked good, he was awful nervous and Joe Humphreys and Sam Harris, who were his chief advisers, kept telling him to cut loose at once without shaking hands.

The bell tapped and the two fighters went right at each other. Murphy went at McGovern in Terry's own style, and this was his undoing. They had fought only about a minute when over went McGovern's right and down went Murphy. He was up at "eight" and Terry was on him in a second like a wild man, and down he went again with another terrible right to the jaw. In came hits from all sides and some of them hit Murphy on the head. Without waiting to take the count he rose only to go down for the third time. Referee McGuigan went between the men, but Terry went after Murphy, who was game, and drove him through the ropes. This time McGuigan stepped between the two men and stopped the contest. Murphy was all in and his seconds rushed in and carried him to his corner, where he came to in a few minutes.

Terry still has an awful punch, but it looked as if Murphy should have not gone in to mix it so soon and while McGovern was good and fresh. The time of the fight was 2 minutes and 20 seconds. Young Corbett will likely meet Terry.

SHADYSIDE CANCELS A GAME

Shadyside academy yesterday called off the game scheduled for Saturday with the W. and J. scrubs because of the crippled condition of the Shadyside team. Manager Drake Heard, after cancelling the game, announced that the coaches will devote the afternoon to signal work. It is feared that Goff, the halfback, will not be able to play any more this year.

Tom Thorp, the deposed Columbia football captain, may enter Yale.

The Intercollegiate Basketball league has broken away from the A. A. U. and has adopted a new set of rules. Harvard was again readmitted, making the league a six-club affair—Yale, Harvard, Columbia, Princeton and Pennsylvania.

Jim Robinson, the Princeton trainer, has been ordered south by the doctors. Princeton will miss him for five weeks.

Daly, the Andover quarterback, is an excellent punter. He distinguished himself by kicking a goal from the field against the Yale freshmen.

Stevenson is proving Yale's best ground-gainer of the backs. He is both fast and a hard line hitter. He is also being given practice in the punting end of the game.

THE PIRATES DISBAND FOR SEASON OF 1905

Beat the Steubenville Team in Five Innings and Then Scatter to Their Homes.

The Pittsburgh baseball club closed its exhibition trip last night upon the return of the team from Steubenville, where the final game was played. Invitations to play a return game at Millvale, and to appear at Vandergrift, Emlenton, Bruin, Apollo, New Castle, Rochester, Connellsville and other places were declined because Wagner would not take out a patched team and many of the Pirates had arranged to start home last night. The Pirates were delighted not only with the patronage their games received, but also with the treatment they received in every town they visited. Nine games were played on the trip, seven resulted in victories and two in defeats. Liefield pitched five winners. Phillippe lost one and won two. Flaherty pitched two games and broke even.

The Pirates showed their appreciation of the generous support of the fans by hustling hard in every game. Coming from Steubenville last night, the players held a meeting and extended a vote of thanks to President Dreyfuss, who, by releasing them from duty on October 8, made the successful trip possible.

The players scattered last night. Liefield left for St. Louis, Ganley started for Des Moines, Leach for Cleveland and Gibson for Buffalo. Flanagan and Clymer will go east at noon today. Phillippe and Wagner are going to Emlenton this morning with Ritchey for a hunting trip.

At Steubenville yesterday threatening weather kept down the attendance and rain shut off the game at the first of the sixth inning, with Pittsburgh at bat and two men out. It was a spirited game. A feature was a long running catch of a foul fly in right field by Nolan of Steubenville. Score:

TWO RAILROAD VETERANS HERE

"Uncle" John Foreman and "Deacon" Patterson Interested in Bridge Meeting.

THREE OTHER CONVENTIONS

At the fifteenth annual convention of the Association of Railway Superintendents of Bridges and Buildings, which is being held at the Monongahela house this week, are two interesting veterans in the railroad world. There is not a railway superintendent of bridges and buildings in the country who does not know "Uncle" John Foreman of the Philadelphia & Reading and "Deacon" S. F. Patterson of the Boston & Maine. The presence of these two men always makes the sessions of the association more interesting.

Mr. Foreman has been superintendent of bridges and buildings of the Philadelphia & Reading for 58 years consecutively, and is thus entitled not only to the title of Nestor of the Philadelphia & Reading system, but also among the men of his title in the country. He is 90 years of age. It is doubtful if any railroad man in the world has served under one title so long and so faithfully. While Mr. Foreman's work is looked after in its most active physical phases by his force of men, he oversees all the doings of his department. He has had the title of "Uncle" as far back as most of the members of the association goes. He has always been one of the most active spirits of the organization.

Mr. Patterson has been secretary of the association ever since its formation, and he was largely instrumental in bringing the organization into effect. He is to be re-elected secretary today, and it seems as though "Deacon" Patterson must serve in this office for them until his advancing age will force him to retire. He knows every member personally and has the affairs of the association under better knowledge than any other man. He was given the title of "Deacon" about seven years ago when someone happened to familiarly address him in that manner because of his wearing side whiskers and having the appearance of the genuine New England type of deacon. He answers to the title now and smiles greeting to his friends as they salute him with the title.

The association completed the discussion of committee reports on the subjects assigned yesterday. The business of the convention will close this afternoon, when the session will be taken up with standing committee reports, unfinished business and the election of officers. The following nominations were reported: President, J. E. Sheldon of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad; first vice president, J. H. Markley of the Toledo, Peoria & Western; second vice president, R. H. Reid of the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern; third vice president, R. C. Sattley of the Chicago & Northwestern; fourth vice president, J. F. Canty of the Boston & Maine; secretary, S. F. Patterson of the Boston & Maine; treasurer, C. P. Austin of the Boston & Maine; executive members, J. S. Lemond of the Southern, C. W. Ritchey of the West Penn division of the Pennsylvania, G. Aldrich of the New York, New Haven & Hartford, H. H. Riggleston of the Central Indiana, F. E. Schall of the Lehigh Valley and W. F. Steffens of the New York Central & Hudson River.

The women of the party had a very enjoyable day. They spent the forenoon in a trip to the big department stores and in the afternoon they visited the Heinz pickle factory, which was an especially enjoyable part of the local entertainment of the week for them. Last evening about 200 persons composed the party that went to the Belasco theater. The women will make a trip to Mt. Washington this morning if the weather is favorable. After today noon the visitors will be interested only in the entertainment that has been provided. The men of the party will make an inspection of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie shops at McKees Rocks this afternoon and the entire party will enjoy a boat ride this evening.

Freight Traffic Men in Session.

The annual meeting of the freight traffic officers of the Pennsylvania system began yesterday morning in the committee room at the Union station with about 50 representatives of the system and its directly allied lines in attendance. In the absence of D. T. McCabe, freight traffic manager of the Pennsylvania lines west, who is president, and of George D. Dixon, freight traffic manager of the Pennsylvania railroad, who is vice president, the meeting was presided over by Edwin P. Bates, general freight agent of the Pennsylvania railroad. Messrs. McCabe and Dixon are expected to be at the sessions today, which will conclude the meeting. Last evening the members enjoyed a banquet at the Hotel Schenley, at which E. A. Dawson, manager of the Star Union line of Chicago, acted as toastmaster. Addresses were made by a number of the officers.

B. & O. Passenger Men Meet.

The fall time card meeting of the passenger officers of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad was held at the Hotel Lincoln yesterday. One of the most important changes that will be made in the fall schedule is the shortening of the running time of trains Nos. 5 and 6 between Pittsburgh and Chicago an hour and a half. The trains will operate into and out of Pittsburgh on the same time as at present, but the arriving and leaving time at Chicago will be made one and one-half hours earlier and later, respectively. The other through trains will also be quickened from here west. This betterment is made possible by the new cut-off that has been opened from Youngstown to Akron. The night train service between Pittsburgh and the lower West Virginia points was discussed, but this was left for further investigation. The matter will come up for a definite decision at the general time card meeting in Baltimore in a couple of weeks.

The meeting was attended by Manager of Passenger Traffic D. B. Martin and General Passenger Agents C. W. Bassett and E. N. Austin and their staff officers located at points on the system. Messrs. Martin, Bassett and Austin will go to Youngstown today with Assistant General Passenger Agent J. P. Taggart to see the new station and to make a trip over the new line.

P. & L. E. Agents Gather Here.

The agents of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad gathered in Pittsburgh yesterday for the quarterly meeting of the Agents' association of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad Company. D. G. Hood, freight agent in Pittsburgh, presided, and H. E. Obley officiated as secretary. Five subjects of direct interest to the agents were discussed and the recommendations were reported to the general officers for consideration. Among the officers who were present and talked were General Freight Agent W. A. Terry, Superintendent of Car Service N. K. Hoffman, City Passenger and Ticket Agent Wyn B. Morris, Traveling Passenger Agent J. H. Sterling, Traveling Auditor C. J. Phillips and J. L. Thomas, general agent at Dickerson run.

Gould and Bird Out of Wabash Roll.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Announcement was made today that George J. Gould had resigned as chairman of the board of directors of the Wabash Railroad Company and has been succeeded by E. T. Jeffery, president of the Denver & Rio Grande Railroad Company. F. A. Delano was elected president of the Wabash, E. T. Welles, vice president; Wells H. Blodgett, third vice president and general counsel, and E. B. Pryor, fourth vice president. A. C. Bird, formerly vice president in charge of traffic, was not re-elected.

Railroad Notes.

Charles E. Pugh, second vice president of the Pennsylvania, and W. W. Atterbury, general manager, arrived here last evening from an inspection of the Hollidaysburg shops and yards and the New Portage road. They will meet President Cassatt and other officers today.

An official circular announces that the headquarters of H. J. Booth, general freight agent of the Wabash lines east of Toledo, are now in Pittsburgh, and that E. D. Coolidge will retain his offices as assistant general freight agent of the Wheeling & Lake Erie at Cleveland.

Vice President Worthington, General Superintendent McMaster and General Freight Agent Booth of the Wabash lines east of Toledo are inspecting the docks and terminals at Cleveland.

W. A. Preston, city ticket agent of the Baltimore & Ohio, was called to Chicago yesterday by the death of his brother, Bernard Preston, who was secretary to President Robert T. Lincoln of the Pullman Company.

R. H. McCormick, former city passenger agent of the Rock Island system at St. Louis, has been appointed traveling passenger agent in the Pittsburgh territory as successor to Harry C. Young, promoted to district passenger agent at Cleveland.

INDORSE LINCOLN TICKET FRIDAY

MANY REPUBLICAN SPEAKERS

"I wonder what Mr. Larkin thinks of the Orphans indorsing Berry for state treasurer, after Mr. Larkin helped to keep Berry's name off the Citizens-Democratic ticket?" queried W. H. Stevenson yesterday after a meeting with the committees from the Lincoln party and the Independent Democrats at which the Orphan representatives proposed that the Democratic candidate for state treasurer be indorsed by the allied independent bodies.

The meeting was held at the Monongahela house, where the question of indorsing Berry was discussed for an hour and a half. The Orphans proposed that the entire Lincoln party ticket should be indorsed. This includes the indorsement of Berry for state treasurer and of the Republican county ticket.

"The matter was discussed thoroughly," said Mr. Stevenson, "and we adjourned to meet again on Friday afternoon when final action will be taken at a full attendance of the members of the joint committee. W. S. Guffey was out of the city today and H. S. Paul of the Lincoln party was unable to be present owing to illness. They will be present on Friday when, without doubt, the Lincoln party ticket will be indorsed by the allied parties. That was the opinion of those present today."

In marked contrast to the refusal of orators to take the stump for the Citizens party, the Republican county committee has unlimited talent in the speaking line at its command, but the demand for speakers from all parts of the county is so great that every available man will be put into service. The following have accepted invitations to speak for the Republican ticket, the list being prepared yesterday at Republican headquarters.

M. C. Acheson, Daniel Ashworth, O. A. Ainsworth, Paul S. Ache, Edmund W. Arthur, George E. Alter, J. L. Adams, William A. Blakely, Alexander J. Barron, Franklin P. Booth, Wm. M. Benham, Lee C. COUNCILMEN PROBE POLITICAL ASSESSMENTS

Allegheny City Fathers Wrestle With the Vexed Question of Collections Made Upon Employes.

At the monthly meeting of Allegheny select council yesterday afternoon L. C. Beatty of the Sixth ward introduced a resolution requiring the city solicitor to furnish councils at its next meeting with a written opinion regarding political assessments, and John T. Bealor of the Tenth ward offered a resolution requiring the director of the department of public safety to furnish information in writing setting forth the number of horses purchased during the last year for the fire and police bureaus, their cost, etc., and a resolution that the director furnish information as to whether political assessments have been levied upon employes of the city and whether he has any knowledge that the assistant chief clerk and stenographer in his office had knowledge of such assessments.

A motion to adopt the resolutions under a suspension of the rules was objected to by John W. Robinson, and as a two-thirds vote could not be secured to pass them under such suspension, they were withdrawn.

The ordinance authorizing the public works director to employ a superintending engineer for the Montrose pumping station was laid over. The ordinances creating the fire and police disability boards were amended so as to make the service limit 20 years instead of 25 years. The ordinance vacating School street from Kilbuck street to the Allegheny river was unanimously defeated.

GAS RIGHT QUESTION.

Corporation Wants Supreme Court to Give it Exclusive Privilege to Supply Scranton.

An important case from the middle district was argued in the supreme court yesterday, that of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex rel, appellant, vs. the Consumers Gas Company of Scranton, which was advanced to secure an early finding. The case is based on the general corporation act of 1874. Under that act the Hyde Park Gas Company was incorporated in 1875 to supply gas to Scranton. It has not earned 8 per cent a year for five years, and claims to have the exclusive right to supply gas in Scranton until its dividends amount to that percentage for that period. The Consumers Gas Company of Scranton was organized in November, 1900, and when it began preparations to engage in business the action was brought to stop it. The court below decided that the Consumers company was properly incorporated to supply gas in Scranton and the appeal was taken.

Frank A. Howard entered an appeal in his suit against the borough of Swissvale. The borough was formerly lighted by electricity and about a year ago made a contract to use gas on the streets. Howard entered suit in common pleas court No. 2 to prevent this contract from being carried out. He declared that no formal list had been asked for, that the ordinance was passed irregularly and that the price was in excess of arc lights. He lost in the case and now brings this appeal. It will go on the list for 1906.

RHODE ISLAND REPUBLICANS RENOMINATE STATE OFFICERS

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 18.—A harmonious state convention was held by the Republicans here today and all the present state officers were renominated by acclamation. The platform adopted reaffirms its indorsement of the Chicago platform of 1904.

SOCIETY—CLUBS

Benefit at the Nixon.

Society turned out in numbers for the Soho bath benefit matinee at the Nixon yesterday afternoon, the attraction being Robert Edeson in his new play, "Strongheart." Every box was filled with handsomely gowned women, who visited back and forth during the intermissions, giving the affair the general aspect of a large reception. A pleasant feature of the afternoon was Mr. Edeson's speech, in which he mentioned the large sum that had already been raised for the building fund of the Soho public baths, and assuring everyone that the balance of the amount needed would not be long forthcoming. Among the boxholders were Mrs. James Hay Reed, Mrs. Lucy B. Reiter, Mrs. Lisle Packer Blair, Mrs. Philo N. French, Mrs. J. Dawson Caffery, Mrs. J. H. Beal, Mrs. H. P. Bope and Mrs. Clarence Burleigh. With Mrs. Reed were her daughter, Miss Katherine Reed; Mrs. David Aiken Reed and Mrs. William Watson Smith. Mrs. George E. Shaw, who is mourning, gave her box to Mrs. George B. Roberts, Miss Morse, Miss Danforth and the hostess, while Mrs. Oliver Graham Ferguson, with Mrs. Bent Moore, Miss Blanche Houlden, Miss Jean Bunton, Mrs. Edward Englert and Mrs. Edward Carver, occupied Mrs. Clarence Burleigh's box. Mrs. Reiter, who is a resident of Atlantic City, gave her box to her daughter, Mrs. Warren W. Swartz, who entertained Mrs. H. C. Ebert, Mrs. H. M. Corwin, Mrs. George S. Swartz, Miss Mary B. Pearson and Mrs. S. V. Lindsay. In Mrs. Blair's box were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Grant McCutcheon, Mrs. William Ralston Crabbe, C. D. Parker and Miss Charles Blair. With Mrs. French was Miss Louise Sucoop. Mrs. H. G. Scott, Mrs. Robert Townsend, Aaron French and Miss Elizabeth French. In Mrs. Bope's box were Mrs. A. R. Hunt, Mrs. J. A. Clarke, Mrs. W. S. McCreery, Miss Emily McCreery, Mrs. Alan Maxwell and Mrs. George McElvaine. Quite a number of smartly-appointed luncheons at the downtown cafes, hotels and clubs preceded the matinee. Mrs. W. W. Dicker gave a luncheon at the Nixon cafe, covers being laid for Mrs. W. C. McCausland, Mrs. William J. Langenheim, Mrs. John I. Shaw, Mrs. John Fremont Shafer, Mrs. McKinnie and Miss Burchfield. The favors were corsage bouquets of violets and maidenhair ferns.

Mrs. W. W. Darley was hostess at a very pretty luncheon, which she gave at home, after which she and her guests went to the Nixon in automobiles. Covers were laid for Mrs. John Edward Lauck, Mrs. G. Walter Gates, Miss Nellie Watson, Mrs. Albert Maxfield Lynn, Mrs. Harry A. Fonerty, Mrs. George P. Procter and Mrs. A. Rock Carroll. The decorations were carried out in yellow chrysanthemums.

Bailey-Lidstone.

The wedding of Miss Mary Beggs Bailey, daughter of Mrs. Madison Bailey, Jr., of Bailey avenue, Mt. Washington, and Frederick James Lidstone which was a home event of last evening, served to celebrate the thirteenth birthday anniversary of the bride's youngest brother, Charles Ward Bailey. Master Bailey was one of the guests at the bridal table, where covers were laid for 15. The other guests were the members of the bridal party, Mrs. Fred Moore, matron of honor; Miss Eva Holland and Miss Isabel Bailey, bridesmaids; George H. Lidstone, best man; Madison Bailey, III., and James Hamilton, ushers; with Miss Elizabeth Lidstone, Alethia Bailey, John A. Moore, Mrs. Bailey and the bridal couple. The Rev. Dr. B. T. Woodburn officiated. It was prettily appointed blue and white wedding, the colors being carried out with chrysanthemums and blue mallne in the decorations. The large bay window in the parlor was banked with palms and flanked on each side by standards of white chrysanthemums. The sitting room, hall and dining-room were decorated in a similar manner and over all the doors and windows was trailed the graceful vine of the southern smilax. The bridal gown was of white lansdowne and orange blossoms held the tulle veil in place. A shower of illies of the valley formed the bouquet. Mrs. Moore was in white crepe trimmed with duchess lace and carried a cluster of white chrysanthemums, while the maids, in gowns of blue silk and valenclennes lace, carried the same blossoms. During the evening Mr. and Mrs. Lidstone left the city on their wedding trip and upon their return will occupy the Bailey home in Mt. Washington during the absence of Mrs. Bailey and the other members of her family in Florida.

Burnett-Anderson.

On account of sickness in the bride's family, the wedding of Miss Jennie Burnett and Dr. Harry B. Anderson last evening was very quiet. It occurred at the home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wittmer, in Stratford avenue, East End, with only the immediate relatives in attendance. The bridal couple was unattended and the ceremony, at 7 o'clock, was performed by the Rev. Mr. Rambler of the Ellwood City Presbyterian church. The bride wore a beautiful white lace robe and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. At the wedding supper which followed the ceremony, covers were laid for 16 at the bridal table, the guests including Dr. and Mrs. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wittmer, Mr. and Mrs. George S. Wittmer, Mr. and Mrs. Xavier Wittmer, Dr. and Mrs. Edgar Bartley, Alexander Burnett, of St. Catherines, Canada; Mrs. John Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Ferguson, Miss Sadie Cooper and the Rev. Mr. Rambler. Roses and lilies of the valley were the flowers used throughout the house in the simple decorative scheme, a touch of color being given by American beauty roses in the library. After November 19 when the wedding journey will have been concluded Dr. Anderson and his bride will be at home in Ellwood City.

A Saltsburg Wedding.

Daintily appointed was the noon wedding yesterday of Miss Helen Richey Robinson and Logan R. Moore, which was solemnized at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth E. Robinson of Saltsburg. Assisting the Rev. George W. Chalfant of Pittsburgh, who performed the ceremony, was the Rev. George M. Rymal, pastor of the Saltsburg Presbyterian church. The bride was attended by Miss Alice Moore, a sister of the groom, while the bride's uncle, W. H. Porter, acted as best man. The bridal gown was of white organdie over white silk, and the only ornament worn was a coronet of pearls, a gift from Mr. Moore. The bridal bouquet was a shower of bride's roses tied with white chiffon. A sheer white gown with trimmings of Val lace was worn by the bridesmaid, who carried white chrysanthemums. The color scheme, pink and white, was tastefully carried out in all the decorations, carnations and chrysanthemums being the flowers used throughout the house. Mrs. J. P. Archibald of Blairsville, Pa., played the Lohengrin wedding march. A number of out-of-town guests were present at the wedding. The bride is a graduate of Blairsville college and has also taken a post-graduate course in music at the Wooster university. The groom is in business with his father, J. C. Moore, and the marriage of Miss Robinson and Mr. Moore unites two of the pioneer families of the town, as both families were among the earliest settlers in Saltsburg. Mr. and Mrs. Moore will be at home with the bride's mother in Salt street, Saltsburg, after November 1.

Nicholson-Savage.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray P. Mackay have issued cards announcing the marriage of their daughter, Miss Charlotte Taylor Nicholson, and Norman Franklin Savage. The marriage was very quietly solemnized last evening at the home of the bride's parents in Kelley street, Homewood, the officiating clergyman being the Rev. Matthew Rutherford of Washington, Pa., a former pastor of the Avalon Presbyterian church, of which the bride was a member. There were but two attendants, the maid of honor, Miss Annie Dollens, and the bridegroom's business partner, Charles A. Bingeman, who served as best man. Eight o'clock was the hour set for the ceremony, which was witnessed only by the immediate relatives and a few intimate friends of the bridal couple. Miss Eleanor Dorrington Mustins, a cousin of the bride, played the wedding march. After the reception and wedding supper Mr. and Mrs. Savage left for a short trip, at the conclusion of which they will reside in Kelley street.

The rector of the church, the Rev. Daniel J. Malady, will officiate. The bride's only attendant will be Miss Katherine Vilsack, and she will be given away by Joseph C. Head of Latrobe. The groom will be attended by his brother, Alfred Ormston. Miss Donnelly is a graduate of St. Xavier's academy and a member of the Relief club of the East End. Upon their return from a wedding trip, Mr. Ormston and his bride will live in Hamilton avenue.

Fickes-Seed.

A very beautiful wedding yesterday was that of Miss Elizabeth J. Fickes of Carnegie, and Maurice Jay Seed of Mount Vernon, Ill., which took place at noon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Fickes of "Rossiyn Farm," Carnegie. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. George H. Miller, pastor of the Methodist Protestant church of Steubenville, O., the former home of the bride. A reception and dinner followed the wedding, and later Mr. and Mrs. Seed left for a western trip.

Kathryn Clark, whose marriage to Bruce Penn McDaniel is to take place on October 25, was guest of honor at a prettily-appointed card party which Miss Sue Clark of Wilkinsburg gave at her home last evening. The game played was "500," with eight tables in use. The house was decorated in autumn leaves and smilax.

The ladies of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Epiphany of Bellevue, will give a New England supper in the parish rooms of the church, Lincoln and Rogers avenues, Friday evening, October 20, from 6:30 to 9 o'clock.

Piano Making No Secret Process

Don't Let a Delusion Deprive You of Good Music

$200 Buys a Fine Upright Piano

Curious notions some folks have—that widespread impression that no piano can have any musical merit unless it is labeled with some famous name.

Stencil "Steinway," "Chickering," "Weber" or "Knabe" above the keyboard of a certain good-looking piano we are now showing, place it in a show window with a placard saying only $350, and it would be sold in an hour—and would give years of perfect musical satisfaction.

And yet we are selling this self-same piano under a name not so widely known for only

Two Hundred Dollars

It was made in the largest Piano factory in America by skilled workmen, many of whom learned every art and artifice of piano-making in the very factories of the high-priced instruments helped into fame by long and expensive concert tours with famous musicians and high-priced concert companies.

This $200 Piano comes either in mahogany, walnut or oak case, double veneered throughout. It is 7⅓ octave with full iron frame, three strings in unison, overstrung bass and repeating action. All the inside metal work is nickel plated, with continuous hinges on top and fall, and grand fall board with whole top frame adjusted to swing. It has raised, carved or plain panels, open hardwood back and muffler for third pedal. The height is 4 ft. 7 in., the width 5 ft. 2 in. and the depth 2 ft. 2½ in.

People who prefer partial payments can have it placed in their homes on a $16-down payment with monthly installments of $6 thereafter.

Expert musicians who know all about pianos are particularly invited to examine it at

Eat Right and Feel Right

Take Care of Your Stomach and You Will Escape No End of Trouble —One Perfect Food.

Some people resort to drugs for every little ache or pain—drugs which may stimulate, but which cannot cure, if, indeed, there really is anything to be cured.

Many of the ills with which we are afflicted are due solely to eating the wrong kind of food, or eating too much or not getting enough exercise to properly digest what we do eat.

We can't abuse the stomach without paying a penalty. This penalty is most frequently indigestion, with all its accompanying distress. Eat the right kind of food and you will not suffer.

And the right kind of food isn't medicine at all. It's a natural malted whole wheat food, Malta-Vita, the most delicious, the most satisfying food in the world, always fresh and crisp, containing every food element necessary for the sustenance and upbuilding of the body and the brain.

A perfect breakfast is impossible without Malta-Vita. Being a pure grain product, it is rich in food elements—all the food elements of the best white wheat grown and the finest barley malt extract—intensely vitalizing and easy for even the weakest stomach to digest. Just the food to begin the day with, and it's good three times a day.

"I had been a sufferer from nervous debility and indigestion for several years, without any benefit or relief from various tonics and other medical prescriptions. Imagine my surprise when, a short time after beginning the use of Malta-Vita, I became aware of its beneficial effects by the gradual disappearance of my long-standing ailment. Malta-Vita is incomparable in its nourishing, digestive and strengthening qualities, and is deserving of the greatest praise." P. Gesper, Barnesville, O.

All grocers sell Malta-Vita at 10 cents per package. Try some with cream or fruit. You never tasted anything so good and you will be glad we told you about it. Ready to eat.

SOUSA PLAYS A SUITE BY A LOCAL COMPOSER

Albert D. Liefield's Composition, "In the Spring," Will Be Heard at Exposition Tonight.

After tonight's concert only two days remain of the Pittsburgh Exposition. The last of the out-of-town excursions will be run today and Sousa will be unusually liberal with his request programs. His music mostly will be on the familiar order and will please all classes. Tonight Sousa's band will play Albert D. Liefield's suite, "In the Spring." Last year Mr. Sousa played the first number of the little composition and was so pleased with it that he asked Mr. Liefield to have the entire suite arranged. Mr. Liefield is director of the Liefield orchestra, and is well-known in musical circles in this city.

At last night's concert sitting room was unobtainable and the Sousa repertoire was thoroughly enjoyed. Tomorrow evening will be devoted to grand, romantic and comic opera selections. This afternoon's programs follow:

PACKERS WIN BUT HALF A VICTORY

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Federal Judge J. Otis Humphrey today, in the cases of the meat packers charged with illegal conspiracy, overruled the portion of their demurrer in which the packers attacked the counts, charging conspiracy in restraint of trade, but sustained the demurrer to the counts, charging monopoly. The elimination of the monopoly counts from the indictment will not vitally affect the prosecution, as the charge of monopoly is also made in the conspiracy counts.

What is Castoria.

CASTORIA is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. It assimilates the Food, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. The children's Panacea—The Mother's Friend.

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher, and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Dr. L. R. Robinson, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Your Castoria certainly has merit. In not its age, its continued use by mothers through all these years, and the many attempts to imitate it, sufficient recommendation? What can a physician add? Leave it to the mothers."

Dr. Edwin F. Pardee, of New York City, says: "For several years I have recommended your Castoria and shall always continue to do so, as it has invariably produced beneficial results."

Dr. N. B. Sizer, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I object to what are called patent medicines, where maker alone knows what ingredients are put in them, but I know the formula of your Castoria and advise its use."

TRYING GIRL FOR HER FATHER'S DEATH

Sixteen-Year-Old Negress Answers Charge of Murder in Criminal Court.

S. H. DAVIS PLEADS GUILTY

Sophia Scott, a 16-year-old negress, was placed on trial, charged with the murder of her stepfather, Grant Scott, at Leetsdale. Attorneys T. Mercer and Ralph C. Davis represent the girl. The defendant's story was that she was sleeping in the house when she heard a gunshot report and awakened, finding her father dead on the floor. She heard footsteps going away from the house. This story she told to Officer T. L. Bird and Dr. J. A. McConell. She told Detective W. D. Armstrong she had quarrelled with her father over the supper. All were witnesses yesterday.

Mrs. Scott, the man's wife, was in Pittsburgh. Samuel Dickerson, who was said to be very friendly with the woman, testified Scott was angry with him for paying too much attention to Mrs. Scott, but he was working that night.

S. H. Davis, who as president of the Imperial Steel and Brick Company, a fictitious concern, which he claimed was capitalized at $30,000,000, secured various sums of money from confiding people by promising them positions with the company at princely salaries, entered a plea of guilty in criminal court before Judge Brown to obtaining money under false pretenses. Davis is thought to be demented and will probably be returned to his people in Toronto, Can.

Bert Baughman Pleads Guilty.

William Lang, John Edwards, Thomas Templeton and Martin McDonald, alleged members of the "Red Onion" gang, charged with felonious assault in fracturing the skull of Emanuel Wells, a negro, were found guilty of simple assault. Martin Tinian and Patrick Brown, tried on the same charge, were acquitted.

Bert Baughman, charged with keeping a gambling house on Station street, East End, entered a plea of guilty. Three counts had been lodged against him for keeping a gambling house and three for being a common gambler.

Samuel Harris was discharged in criminal court after a nolle pros had been allowed in the suit charging him with embezzlement.

The master in the divorce suit of Jules Verhaegen against Josephine C. Verhaegen has filed his report, recommending a decree on grounds of desertion, subject to the court's decision on a question relative to the libellant's residence within the county.

Desertion is charged by Henry C. Phillips, who sues his wife, Annie M. Phillips, for a divorce, and by Theodore Russell, who has begun proceedings of similar character against Emma V. Russell.

An opinion was filed by Judge Frazer in the suit brought to compel the supervisors of Kennedy township to open up a road under an order of quarter session court. Judge Frazer finds in favor of the supervisors.

Grants Preliminary Injunction.

A preliminary injunction was granted in the equity suit of Christian Snyder and others against M. V. Meadley, restraining the defendant from building out over a disputed property line in Turtle Creek.

A new trial has been refused in the case of Walker, Stratman & Co. vs. Black & Gloninger, suit over a question of fire insurance, the plaintiff claiming that the defendant was negligent in furnishing an insurance policy.

Not more than three inches is the size of the will of Margaret E. Lawton. She gives all of her estate to her sister Mary, and requests she wear her diamond ring in memory of the testatrix.

The opinion of the superior court in the appeal of David M. Moore was received by Prothonotary George Pearson. Moore is a prominent resident of Franklin, Venango county. On August 23, 1901, his house was robbed. Harry Baker was arrested and Moore identified him as the burglar. On trial Baker proved he was not in Franklin on the night of the robbery and was acquitted. He then sued Moore for damages and got a verdict for $500. Moore appealed on the ground that the judge's charge was not proper. The superior court reversed the lower court and ordered a new trial.

Whitesell, notice, $5,063; Bridget Ryan vs. James Ryan, deceased, etc., $976; Savings Fund Building and Loan Association of Pittsburgh vs. Frank H. BRIDGE CASE GOES OVER.

Attorney Rodgers Moves to Quash Information and Gives Four Reasons for Motion.

The case of the United States against the Union Bridge Company was postponed by consent of United States District Attorney John Dunkle until January 9, 1906. After a jury was selected to try the case Attorney Rodgers told the court that his colleague, Attorney Johns McCleave, was out of the city and that he himself had a number of cases which must be attended to before the supreme court.

After the jury was selected Attorney Rodgers made the following motion to squash the information:

"First—The government has no authority for preferring information or indictment except by the terms of the act of congress of March 3, 1899.

"Second—The only offense under said act is the failure by the bridge company to comply with the order of the secretary of war requiring the reconstruction or alteration of the bridge.

"Third—The bridge was erected under the authority of the state of Pennsylvania, in the year 1874, at a cost of $310,000, many years before the congress of the United States had assumed or exercised any jurisdiction over the Allegheny river.

"Fourth—The said act, which is the only basis for the proposed information, is null and void in this:

"It does not provide any judicial inquiry as to the nature of the obstruction and, as a matter of fact, no judicial inquiry has been made.

"By its terms the United States does not provide compensation to the bridge company for the cost of alteration required, and, as a matter of fact, does not propose to provide for or make such compensation." The motion was placed on file.

UNION AGENT IN TROUBLE.

Pleads Guilty to Trespassing on Government Property in Order to Aid a Strike.

Michael Galentine, business agent of the Bridgemen's union, pleaded guilty to a charge of trespassing on government property in the United States district court. He will be sentenced on Saturday. It is alleged that during a strike against the American Bridge Company the company was unable to finish its contract for placing the lock gates at No. 2 dam on the Monongahela river, near North Braddock. The government then took the contract from the American Bridge Company and started to finish the construction and erection of the lock gates. Galentine went on the lock walls and tried to induce the men employed by the government to quit work. He was arrested on a charge of trespassing on government property.

In the bankruptcy case of the Pittsburgh Brewing Company against E. H. McCauley, a creditor's petition was filed, an order to show cause granted and a subpoena awarded. An order was made restraining J. Denny O'Neil et al. from interfering with the estate. The court appointed Justus Mulert of Pittsburgh receiver, with leave to sell the estate.

H. G. Cunningham, who was employed in the money order department of the Charleroi postoffice, entered a plea of nolle contendere. Cunningham is indicted for embezzling $1,068.82 in money orders.

True bills returned: John Lewis, engraving a plate of a silver certificate and having it in his possession. Lewis is now serving a sentence on another charge in the penitentiary. Max Sobeller, peddling cigars without a bond or certificate. The grand jury ignored the bills against Frank Schmit, who was charged with passing two silver counterfeit dollars.

In the case of Frank Hamilton and Charles Aukron, charged with passing counterfeit money, it was testified that the two men went into a saloon at Sutersville, Pa., where they passed four counterfeit silver dollars. Their defense was that they were drunk when the act was committed. Aukron is said to have served a term of four and a half years in the Western penitentiary for housebreaking and burglary.

CASE IS ADVANCED.

Supreme Court to Decide Composition of Chester County Republican Ticket.

When the supreme court opened yesterday a motion was made to advance Garrett's appeal, entered in the Eastern district. This is the Chester county political case to decide on the composition of the Republican ticket in that county.

The Chester county court found that neither ticket was regular and declared that neither could go on the ballot in the Republican column. An appeal was taken to the supreme court, and it was explained that unless the case was advanced it would not be heard until after the election was over. The court allowed the motion to be filed and before adjournment made the order asked for, fixing next Monday for the argument.

COMING ATTRACTIONS.

Theaters Next Week Promise a Variety of Excellent Entertainment—Drama, Music and Vaudeville.

At the Nixon theater on Monday evening next, and for two weeks thereafter, Mr. Wright Lorimer will present for the first time in Pittsburgh, his splendid production, "The Shepherd King," a romantic Biblical drama in four acts and five scenes. "The Shepherd King" is based on the Biblical story of David, and illustrates in a splendid manner the great story of unselfish affection existing between David and Jonathan. "The Shepherd King" is said to be the only successful Biblical drama of modern times. In the beauty of its scenery and the splendor of its mounting the play shares with "Ben-Hur" the distinction of being the finest stage production ever seen in this country.

"Nancy Brown," the brilliant musical comedy success which will be seen at the Alvin theater for one week commencing next Monday, comes fresh from the Fourteenth Street theater, New York, where it duplicated its former triumph and record-breaking run at the Bijou theater of that city, and proved itself the strongest kind of a drawing card. With it are all the original scenic and spectacular effects, costumes and stage accessories, and the famous cast, headed by the dainty comedienne, Mary Marble.

"Babes in the Wood," the big, beautiful English spectacle, has made a hit at the Belasco, where it will be continued another week. Cheridah Simpson will be added to the cast on Saturday and with Jennie McCree, Will Archer, Fred Walton and all the other clever principals, will continue the fun through another week.

A play teeming with human interest, vivid with scenes of suffering and strife of a great city, interspersed with bright lines of comedy, and taken altogether, one that will hold the interest of an audience from rise to fall of curtain, is the best description that can be given of "Girl of the Streets." This play will be the attraction at the Empire theater on Monday, October 23, with Miss Laura Alberta in the leading role of Kit.

Willard Clark, the well-known comedian, with his company, is one of the big headliners at the Grand next week. The vaudeville bill surrounding this clever act will be one of the strongest of the season at the Grand.

At the Gayety next week the attraction will be the famous New York Stars, one of the real big burlesque offerings. There will be a highly attractive program of all star vaudeville acts, headed by the wonderful Kitamura troupe of Japanese acrobats. The chorus of 29 show girls will be headed by Miss Catherine Taylor, a famous dramatic soprano, formerly of the Bostonians. The company will be one of the biggest and most capable yet seen at the Gayety.

The Mascotte Burlesquers open a week's engagement at the Academy commencing Monday, October 23, with the usual matinees. This company makes its first appearance in this city, and judging from the press of other cities it certainly has won its way into popular favor. One of the burlesques, entitled "The Isle of Gold," is a satire on two politicians who are shipwrecked and are found on the island by the natives, who take them before their king.

LIBERTY AVENUE CORNER IS SOLD

T. J. Keenan Buys E. H. Myers' Property at Seventh Street for $300,000.

EXCHANGE DEAL OF $550,000

Thomas J. Keenan has purchased from E. H. Myers the property at the northwest corner of Liberty avenue and Seventh street for $300,000. Forty years ago Mr. Myers bought the same lot for $18,000, which gives a fair idea of the enhancement in property values in Pittsburgh's main business thoroughfares. The corner, which is regarded as one of the best in the city, has a frontage of 40 feet and a depth of 88 feet to a private alley 15 feet wide. This alley runs in from Seventh street behind a half dozen properties that face in Liberty and cannot be closed without the consent of all the property owners abutting, as the city of Pittsburgh found out some years ago when it tried to condemn it. There are two four-story brick buildings, both old, on the lot. They were occupied for many years by the Myers pork packing house, but are now tenanted by James A. McAteer & Son, wholesale grocers, and Albert M. Travis, a commission merchant. The sale figures at the rate of $7,000 a foot front, or $85 23 a square foot. Considering the fact that around this corner have brought a large proportion of the Allegheny crowds and that with the Pennsylvania railroad tracks removed the advantages of Liberty avenue for a business thoroughfare will be greatly enhanced, the price is regarded as reasonable. The leases on the present building expire next April. Mr. Keenan has already had offers from two large mercantile firms to lease a building if he would erect one on this corner. He is now considering plans for a 10- or 12-story block to cost at least $250,000, which may not be started until Liberty avenue is replaced. This deal may be said to mark a new buying movement in Liberty avenue, which is expected to enlarge in proportion and importance as the benefits accruing from an 80-foot street without freight cars are more apparent.

Trade Deal of $550,000 is Closed.

The large exchange deal which was referred to in The Gazette Monday was closed yesterday. By the transaction Morris Kaufmann of Kaufmann Brothers secures the property of the Pittsburgh Valve, Foundry and Construction Company in Second avenue for $375,000, giving in part payment his properties at 1707-1715 Fifth avenue and 1331-1323 Penn avenue, which were put into the deal at $175,000. The foundry property measures 120 feet in Second avenue, between Ferry and Market streets, cornering on Chancery lane, and extends through to Third avenue, where it measures 130 feet. It is 160 feet deep and is one of the very few plots of this size in the downtown section that are on the market. Old brick buildings constitute the improvements, the best of which, a four-story brick structure in Second avenue, is occupied by Perley & Brothers, paper dealers.

The Fifth avenue property given in part payment includes 50x90 feet on the north side of the avenue, between Van Braam and Millemberger streets. Forty feet of the lot is covered with what is now known as the "fifth avenue cash market," which is on the plan of the famous Fulton market in New York and which was installed there a short time ago after Mr. Kaufmann had spent a large sum in improving the building. The remaining 40 feet is occupied by a three-story brick store building. The Penn avenue lot measures 21.5x100 feet and is improved with a three-story brick building occupied for stores and dwellings. The exact figures for these two individual properties could not be learned yesterday, but it is known that the Penn avenue lot has been held at $40,000, which would leave $135,000 for the Fifth avenue frontage. Title to these properties is taken by a member of the firm of Atwood & McCaffrey. The deed was made direct.

Buys Camping Ground for Factory Site.

The Commonwealth Real Estate Company has sold through the office of Charles S. Howell seven acres of the old Ashinwali property on the Allegheny river for about $25,000. The property was owned by the hospital of the Protestant Episcopal church of Philadelphia and is known as a favorite camping ground for Pittsburghers. It lies between the West Penn railroad and the Allegheny river and measures about 500x500 feet. The plot begins at the end of the old Heinz cabbage patch and is directly across the railroad from the filtration plant. The interesting feature of the deal is that the property was secured by a New York manufacturer who proposes to erect a large plant there in the near future.

E. A. Stowe, son of former Judge Stowe, has sold his residence property at Shields for about $40,000. The property consists of 75x229 feet above the Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne & Chicago railroad, nearly opposite the Shields station. On the site is a modern 12-room brick house, which is set in the midst of beautiful grounds. The place is one of the prettiest in that locality and its purchase by a local business man shows the trend of buying sentiment toward the handsome and costly country places in the Sewickley district.

Squirrel Hill Sale of $16,500.

S. W. Tener of Cleveland has sold to James Downer of the National Tube Company his Squirrel Hill residence on the south side of Bartlett street, between Murray and Shady avenues, for $16,500. The lot is 55x169 feet, and the house, which was erected four years ago, is a very fine center hall brick, containing 12 rooms and three tile bathrooms and having a hardwood finish throughout. Mr. Downer has occupied the place for a year and now purchases it for a permanent home.

Edward C. Burkhardt has secured title from Harry Davis to 67x85 feet at the northeast corner of Cassatt and Cliff streets for $27,000. There are seven brick houses facing in Cliff street and a store at the corner. Mr. Davis secured the property from John P. Harris in June, 1903.

S. L. McCullough has sold to Lida M. Moorhouse a modern brick residence on 70x120 feet at the east corner of Negley avenue and Margaretta street, Nineteenth ward, for $14,000. In November, 1894, Mr. McCullough bought the property, which was known as the William R. Arbuckle residence, from Edward Kuhns of Carnegie, for $15,000.

New Country Club on North Side.

The formation of the Perrysville Country club was completed Monday night and a committee has been appointed to buy a site for a fine club house in the Perrysville district in Allegheny. The charter, it is said, will provide that no liquors shall be served or carried on to the grounds. The initiation fee is $50 and the annual dues $25. The club will be purely for social purposes and over 200 residents of that vicinity have already signified their intention of becoming members. Among the most active promoters of the project are Harry B. Naylor, representative of Henry Phipps in this city, and C. M. Gerwig, cashier of the Industrial National bank.

A steady buying movement is evident on the Paul place plan of lots in West Liberty, where only 125 of the original 1,000 lots are left unsold. Thirty-six lots have been sold there in the last five weeks at an average of $500 each. Over 40 houses are now completed or under way on the plan, which was opened 16 months ago and a $15,000 addition to the West Liberty school house on the plan has recently been completed. Oakwood avenue is now being paved and all the streets are being provided with sewers. The water connections were completed some time ago.

New "King Place" in West Liberty.

The H. A. Shaffer Company is preparing to launch a new allotment called "King Place" in the West Liberty district. It consists of 115 lots, running back from the corner of West Liberty and Pearl avenues, which are easily reached by the Brookline and West Liberty car lines. The lots measure 30x100 and 50x160 feet, and the prices range from $250 up. All the streets will be graded and provided with city water, gas lights and scientific sewerage. By the new tunnel lines the property is only 10 minutes from the postoffice, and advance inquiry already indicates a rapid sale Saturday, when the plan opens.

Architect George Esterhammer has awarded the contract to J. Eager & Sons for a four-story brick block to be erected for Mrs. Julia McGee at Washington street and Webster avenue. The building will cost $14,000, and will be used for a restaurant and store.

It is reported that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company has bought from Arthur Klein his property at Sixth avenue and Amity street, Homestead, for about $100,000, to be used for track extensions. The present buildings are occupied by a foreign bank managed by Mr. Klein.

Northumberland street—A. Z. Byers & Co. sold for Blanche E. L. R. Cochran to John L. Feerst, Jr., 55x142 feet in Northumberland street, near Wightman street, for $5,000 cash. The buyer will improve the site with a colonial brick house in keeping with the residence in the neighborhood, which cost from $12,000 to $15,000.

Larimer avenue—J. A. Young & Co. sold to Fred C. Ball to Harriet M. Fair an improved lot, 40x144 feet, on the west side of Larimer avenue, near Station street, Nineteenth ward, for $2,300.

Bellefield—Jacob Friday sold to Lawrence Barr an improved lot, 35x115 feet, on the east side of Bellefield avenue, Fourteenth ward, for $7,000.

Wylie avenue—Mary S. McFadden sold to Morris Schlesinger and Joseph Braun an improved lot, 20x82 feet, in Wylie avenue, near Robert street, Eleventh ward, for $3,700.

Adelphia street—Albert Zacharias sold to Mary L. Ehrensel 130x100 feet in Adelphia street, Eighteenth ward, for $2,500. S. Arnold & Co. sold to Louis Segall a seven-room brick house on 30x76 feet for $4,400.

Building permits were issued to J. F. Rice for two two-story frame dwellings in Southern avenue, Thirty-second ward, to cost $4,200; Barnes Bros., two-story brick stable in Penn avenue, Twelfth ward, to cost $4,000; John Fitzpatrick, two-story frame dwelling in Kenwood street, Thirty-second ward, to cost $3,500; N. Formichella, one-story brick store in Larimer avenue, Twenty-first ward, to cost $2,500; to J. M. McDonald, two-story brick veneered dwelling in Hastings street, Twenty-second ward, to cost $3,100.

In the Oil Fields

There is nothing startling or even interesting in the developments in the lower southwest fields. In some localities, the shallow sand districts in particular, there is a little new work starting on the strength of the advance in the market. In the deep sand districts the same lethargy exists as before the market began to move up. Operators say the price is not yet high enough to warrant the chances of starting new work in deep territory that calls for a large investment with no prospect of getting anything better than a light pumper. In the shallow sand districts there is a noticeable increase in development work and a few of the more energetic operators are starting test wells in new and untried territory. The one who can discover a new pool, capable of furnishing moderate sized wells, will not be lonely for there are many operators waiting for something of that kind. On Richwood run, Grant district, Wetzel county, the Philadelphia Company has drilled its No. 8 on the J. Kendall farm through the fourth sand and found no oil, but has a fair gasser in that formation.

In the Garner district, Marshall county, the South Penn Oil Company gave its No. 1, on the E. J. Vanscyoc farm, a 20-quart shot and it responded by producing 100 barrels the first 20 hours. The same company's second test on the W. H. McIlvaine farm developed a very light show of oil when drilled through the Gordon and will be given a shot. On Upper Bowman creek, in Meade district, the Wheeling Natural Gas Company is drilling test wells on the John Blake and Steve Bassett farms. On Middle Bowman creek, the same company has started to drill at a test on the J. A. Bonar farm. In the Smithfield disrict, Wetzel county, the South Penn Oil Company has drilled its No. 19 on the Fairfield Peterson farm 17 feet into the stray and has developed no oil or gas. In the Salem district, Harrison county, the same company's No. 6 on the J. D. Law farm is holding up at a 40 barrels a day. When first drilled into the pay this well showed for a light pumper. In the Milton district, Cabell county, the Harshbarger Oil & Gas Company is starting No. 3 on the C. C. Beckett farm.

In the Cow Run sand development on the Ohio side, in the edge of Belmont county, W. N. Lohr & Co. have completed a test on the Gordon Hugh farm and have a show for a very light pumper. In the Bays Run district, Washington county, Egan & Co. have completed a test on the William Rokert farm and since giving it a shot have a show for a 10-barrel pumper in the Big Injun. In the Rinards Mills district, Monroe county, Shay & McMullin have completed a test on the John Pail farm and have a 10-barrel pumper in the Big Injun sand. West of the Bakerstown tunnel, in Allegheny county, Pa., the Crown Petroleum Company's test on the Lott Morrow farm is producing 55 barrels a day from the 100-foot formation. In the same district, Miller & Co. are due in the sand at a test on the Brice Owens farm.

SHORTAGE OF CARS IS CAUSING MORE COMPLAINT

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CLEVELAND, Oct. 18.—The Iron Trade Review tomorrow will say: Complaints of car shortage are being made with increasing force. The movement of ore is being hampered and in many places it is difficult to obtain prompt delivery of coke. In some sections the car shortage is also felt in the slow delivery of pig iron. That the railroads keenly appreciate present conditions is shown by the very large orders for all kinds of equipment which are being placed.

The Pennsylvania railroad system, which recently placed orders for 16,000 cars, is about to order an equal number. The Vandalia system is also expected to order 16,000 steel cars, and the Central of New Jersey has placed an order for 1,000 steel hopper gondolas. The continued buying of rails following the unprecedented business of a few weeks ago indicates that all of next year's product will be contracted for before January 10.

Advance in quotations of coke and increasing difficulties in obtaining prompt delivery are causing considerable anxiety among consumers.

MORE TROUBLE FOR MARSHALL

Sheriff of Somerset County Takes Him Into Custody on New Charges.

Arthur G. Marshall, who is under $15,000 for trial on a number of charges in connection with the defunct Duquesne, Lafayette and North American Mutual Fire Insurance companies, was yesterday arrested in this city by A. J. Coulter, sheriff of Somerset county, Pa., on several charges entered in the courts of Somerset county on Tuesday, after a sensational meeting of directors and stockholders of the Rockwood Brick and Coal Company at Somerset, by Harrison Snyder, a heavy stockholder of the Rockwood company.

Snyder alleges Marshall and Frank D. Dunbar, also wanted in connection with the alleged insurance frauds, conspired by deception and cheating to get $152,000 worth of bonds and stock of the Rockwood company, by representing they owned the majority of the stock of the Pennsylvania Coal and Coke Company, a corporation which Receiver Harry L. Hoiman of the defunct fire insurance companies has discovered has no property or assets.

Marshall was taken before Judge Brown at 4 o'clock, when Attorney Blakley applied for a writ of habeas corpus to secure Marshall's release. Attorney Kahle opposed the release and asked that Marshall be held in $15,000 bail. Marshal was given in custody of Sheriff Couter till 9 a. m. today. Shortly after court adjourned Marshal was lodged in jail. Sheriff Coulter's warrants show Marshall is wanted on two charges of larceny, one for embezzlement and larceny and one for conspiracy and false pretense.

Girlhood, Womanhood, Motherhood.

The first lesson that the young girl has of womanhood is usually a painful one. She learns to know what headache means, and backache, and sometimes is sadly borne down by this new experience of life.

All the pain and misery which young girls commonly experience at such a time may, in almost every instance, be entirely prevented or cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It establishes regularity. It tones up the general health, and cures headache, backache, nervousness, chores, or St. Vitus's dance, and other consequences of womanly weakness or disease.

MOTHER OF THE FAMILY.

The anxious mother of the family oftentimes carries the whole burden of responsibility so far as the home medication of common ailments of the girls or boys are concerned. The cost of the doctor's visits are very often much too great. At such times the mother is invited to write to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., for medical advice, which is given free. Correspondence is held sacredly confidential.

IT STANDS ALONE.

"Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women the makers of which are not afraid to print just what it is made of on every bottle wrapper. It is the only medicine for women every ingredient of which has the unanimous endorsement of all the leading medical writers of this country, recommending it for the cure of the very same diseases for which this "Prescription" is advised.

A MOTHER'S LOVE.

A mother's love is so divine that the roughest man cannot help but appreciate it as the crown of womanhood. However, motherhood is often looked forward to with feelings of great dread by most women. At such times a woman is nervous, dyspeptic, irritable, and she is in need of a uterine tonic and nervine, a strength builder to fit her for the ordeal. No matter how healthy or strong a woman may be she cannot but be benefited by taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription to prepare for the event. It makes childbirth easy and often almost painless.

DR. PIERCE'S FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION is a powerful, invigorating tonic. It imparts strength to the whole system and to the womb and its appendages in particular. For overworked "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appertizing cordial and restorative tonic.

A STRENGTHENING NERVINE.

"Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, nervous exhaustion, prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, chorea, or St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the womb. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

A SCIENTIFIC MEDICINE.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a scientific medicine, carefully devised by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate organism. It is purely vegetable in its composition and perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the system. For morning sickness or nausea, weak stomach, indigestion, dyspepsia and kindred symptoms, its use will prove very beneficial.

CURES OBSTINATE CASES.

"Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of leucorrhea, excessive flowing, painful menstruation, unnatural suppressions and irregularities, prolapsus or falling of the womb, weak back, "female weakness," anteversion, retroversion, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration of the womb, inflammation, pain and tenderness of the ovaries, accompanied with "internal heat."

HOW TO LOOK BEAUTIFUL.

Young women or matrons should not allow themselves to look sallow and wrinkled because of those pains and weaknesses which become chronic and are the result of colds, tight lacing, and the imprudent care of the womanly system. Many a woman would look beautiful, have healthy color and bright eyes if it were not for those drains on her strength and those weaknesses which come all too frequently and make her life miserable. There is a ready-to-use Prescription, used a great many years by Dr. R. V. Pierce in his large practice as a Specialist in women's diseases, which is not like the many "patent medicines" on the market, as it contains neither alcohol nor any narcotic or other harmful drug. It is purely vegetable. It is known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and is sold by druggists.

DR. PIERCE'S PLEASANT PELLETS

cure biliousness, sick and bilious headache, dizziness, costiveness, or constipation of the bowels, loss of appetite, coated tongue, sour stomach, windy belchings, "heartburn," pain and distress after eating, and kindred derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels.

Persons subjected to any of these troubles should never be without a vial of the "Pleasant Pellets" at hand. In proof of their superior excellence it can truthfully be said that they are always adopted as a household remedy after the first trial.

One little "Pellet" is a laxative, two are cathartic. They regulate, invigorate and cleanse the liver, stomach and bowels. As a "dinner pill," to promote digestion, take one each day. To relieve the distress arising from overeating, nothing equals one of these little "Pellets." They're tiny, sugar-coated, anti-bilious granules, scarcely larger than mustard seeds.

HEALTH AND HAPPINESS.

How to live in health and happiness, is the general theme of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. This great work on medicine and hygiene, containing over 1000 pages and more than 700 illustrations, is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the cloth-bound volume, or only 21 stamps for the book in paper covers.

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL.

Few People Know How Useful It Is in Preserving Health and Beauty.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose.

Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system.

Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables.

Charcoal effectually clears and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered Willow charcoal, and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form or rather in the form of large, pleasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is, that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but on the contrary, great benefit.

A Buffalo physician, in speaking of the benefits of charcoal, says: "I advise Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat; I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; they cost but twenty-five cents a box at drug stores and although in some sense a patent preparation, yet I believe I get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets."

LIQUIDATION CONTINUED IN NEW YORK STOCKS

A Mild "Bear" Panic in Locomotive Common Helped to Depress the Rest of the List—Local Stocks Averaged Slightly Lower.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

Liquidation continued in the New York stock market, and the tone was heavy despite the slightly easier tendency to the call loan market. In London, American securities were weak and lower, and it is estimated that London sold about 50,000 shares during the day. The depressing influence abroad was the firmness of the money market, and the feeling that the minimum rate of the Bank of England would be raised today. In Wall street trading was checked by a belief that banking interests were opposed to any increase in bull speculation until the money outlook is clearer. The volume of trading was fairly active, the total sales for the day approximating 600,000 shares.

The most prominent feature of the market was the activity and strength of American Locomotive common. This stock made a new high record for the year by advancing to 65¼, a gain of 5½ per cent. The rise was so violent as to indicate a mild "bear" panic, and it is possible that there was selling of other stocks in order to take care of shorts in Locomotive. There was also a rumor that the stock would be put on a 5 per cent basis, but this was not generally credited. The strength of General Electric, which rose from 179 to 182, was in sympathy with the rise in Locomotive, because of the election to the latter's board of the president of General Electric. There was also a story that the strength of Allis-Chalmers was due to the entrance into the board of that company of a director of General Electric. With this small material the street constructed a consolidation of the three interests, or at least a closer affiliation, which would be mutually beneficial. These three stocks were practically the only ones in the entire list which closed at net gains, and their movements were so pronounced as to prove that they were not due to general conditions.

The remainder of the industrial list was heavy, and closed from ¼ to 1 per cent lower. Republic Iron and Steel common closed ⅝ lower and the preferred ½ lower, although the annual election of directors was harmonious. United States Steel common closed ⅜ and the preferred ⅛ per cet lower. American Car and Foundry closed ⅝ higher, but Pressed Steel Car closed ½ lower. Amalgamated Copper and Smelting closed ⅞ lower.

There was no special activity in the railroad list, and with few exceptions they closed lower. The early sales for foreign account were said to be partly influenced by a report that Banker J. P. Morgan was ill, but this report was entirely unfounded. Another influence in this department was said to be President Roosevelt's southern tour, during which he was expected to present his side of railroad rate regulation. It cannot be said that the possibility of legislation on this point this winter is regarded as a seriously adverse factor in the stock market at this time. There is the possibility, however, that the railroad influence in congress will be directed to switching public agitation to the tariff question, and that the strong protectionists will endeavor to keep the railroad question to the fore. In that event the threats of both sides may disturb some timid people in the stock market, but actual injury to business is not feared, at least not at present.

During the greater portion of the day the rate for call loans ruled at 5 per cent, but late in the day declined to 4 per cent and closed offered at that figure. Time loans, however, continue firm, and offerings are not free. Shipments of currency to the interior continued yesterday, Boston, Chicago, New Orleans and Cincinnati being recipients through the sub-treasury.

The only activity in the local stock market occurred near the close of the session, when several large blocks of Tonopah Extension came out at $6. Crucible Steel common was the most active of the regular industrial list, and closed steady at a decline of ⅛. The preferred was inactive, but closed steady and unchanged at 65⅜ bid. The annual meeting of the company was held in Jersey City and on the recommendation of the board of directors the authority to issue bonds was unanimously rescinded, the board stating that the necessity for bonds no longer existed. This action was construed as highly favorable for Crucible Steel, but its effect will be felt more in the future than today. National Fire Proofing stocks were inactive, but steady. Westinghouse Electric closed a dollar a share higher in sympathy with the rise in General Electric in the New York market. The rest of the market was dull and without important feature. The closing of the doors of the Enterprise National bank in Allegheny city was freely discussed, but it could not be said that it had any influence upon the market.

FINANCIAL AND TRADE NOTES.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—(Special.)—The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Republic Iron and Steel Company was held in Jersey City today. The only changes in the directorate were the election of E. J. Berwind and S. G. Cooper, who succeed W. H. Hassinger and John Crerar. The directors are expected to meet in Jersey City tomorrow to organize a new board.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—(Special.)—Producers of foundry iron will this week take action in the matter of readjusting the price schedule. It is said that prices will be advanced about 50 cents a ton.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—National bank notes received for redemption, $852,552; government receipts from internal revenue, $504,649; customs, $1,012,839; miscellaneous, $186,059; expenditures, $2,656,000.

FEATURES OF THE DAY

IN PITTSBURGH	IN WALL STREET
Heavy trading in Tonopah Extension the feature of the late market.	General stock market dull and heavy, closing lower.
Westinghouse Electric advanced $1 on light transactions.	Sales included 600,700 shares stock and $3,245,000 bonds.
Crucible Steel and Fire Proofing closed dull but steady.	Locomotive common jumped 5½ points to a new high price.
Natural gas stocks were fairly active and closed firm.	General Electric was also strong and closed higher.
Closing of the Enterprise National without effect upon the market.	Call loan rates declined to 4 per cent at the close.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

Movements in the money market, domestic and foreign, continue to be a much more interesting study for Wall street than the daily fluctuations in stocks, which are the result of professional operations. The immediate future of the money market will determine whether the long heralded rampant bull market will be witnessed this year or postponed to the opening months of next year, when the flow of currency will be toward New York. Yesterday call loans were apparently easier in New York, but there was no relaxation in rates for time loans, and the resumption of shipments of currency to the interior was proof that last week's slight gain in legal tenders, as reported in the bank statement, did not mark the end of the movement of funds to the country. In Berlin yesterday there was a reaction in discounts and an advance in sterling exchange at Paris, and the question of a further rise in the Bank of England discount rate today was left open. The bank has succeeded in arresting the demand on London for gold by raising the price of the metal and securing open market supplies for its own vaults. This being the case the threatened rise in the bank rate may be avoided. Foreign exchange made a further notable advance in New York, serving to strengthen the supposition that Japanese funds in New York were in course of remittance to London. The statement of this country's foreign trade for September, however, threw light on the prevailing strength of foreign exchanges. The value of imports rose more than $18,000,000 over the preceding September to $162,138,561, a record for a month's imports. At the same time the value of exports increased less than $2,000,000, leaving the excess value of exports of only $33,867,791, while the trade balance in our favor for September of last year amounted to over $50,000,000.

The most important action taken at the annual meeting of the Crucible Steel Company stockholders yesterday was the rescinding of the authority to issue $7,000,000 bonds. This action followed the statement by Chairman W. G. Park that the necessity for an issue of bonds having ceased to exist, the board of directors recommended the rescinding of the authorization. This leaves the Crucible Steel property not only free from bonds, but free from any issue in the future unless the stockholders again grant the authority. In this respect the Crucible Steel Company is almost unique among the newer industrial corporations, nearly all of which were organized without bonds, but were subsequently compelled to raise additional capital by this means. The proposition to issue quarterly statements of earnings and expenses, similar to those issued by the United States Steel Corporation, did not come before the meeting. It was reported that such step was already under consideration by the board. The retiring directors were re-elected and the meeting was entirely harmonious. The annual statement of the company was published two weeks ago.

Just before the close of the local market yesterday there was heavy trading in Tonopah Extension. R. C. Hall was the largest seller and Morris, Brown & Co. took about 2,500 shares. Purchase of a block of Crucible Steel to Sproul & Co., and the latter and Robinson Bros. were buyers of Philadelphia Company, presumably for eastern account, since the chief demand for the stock of late has come from Philadelphia.

The quarterly statement of the United States Steel Corporation will be given out October 31, and not on the 24th inst., as some persons have supposed.

The closing of the doors of the Enterprise National bank of Allegheny City was very freely discussed on the stock exchange, but the event was not a factor in the stock market.

A Wall street dispatch to Robinson Bros. after the close of the market said: "There is a strong impression that although commission houses as a rule are carrying but small lines there is group of some five or six houses who have been conspicuously active on the bull side for the last month or two and who have become heavily loaded with stocks. The leading banks are not disposed to encourage speculation at the moment and it was rumored that an intimation had been conveyed to these houses that it would be as well for them to reduce their loans. The consequent liquidation is thought to be the real reason for yesterday's and today's declines."

The directors of the National Carbon Company will meet in Cleveland today and declare the regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent on the preferred stock, but the question of paying another dividend on the common has not been decided. A stockholder of the National Carbon Company has received the following communication from President Parmalee, in reply to inquiry concerning future dividends on the common stock: "There is no fixed policy thus far with reference to disbursements on the common shares. We are not committed to a 3 per cent basis any more than to a 5 per cent, and failure to declare anything could not be considered passing a dividend. I may state, however, that the company is in very good condition with plenty of profitable orders on hand which will keep the plants busy for some time. It is, therefore, reasonable to assume that the policy under which the disbursements were commenced will be continued so long as the circumstances remain favorable as they are at this time. However, the directors are not expected to act in the matter until the close of the calendar year."

The disposal of several of the day's rumors pointed to operations by a bear element in the street. These included the illness of J. P. Morgan and of financial difficulties caused by the collapse of Chicago Subway stocks. The reports were sufficiently definite to call for published refutations.

The Harbison-Walker quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent on the preferred stock is payable tomorrow.

The Cripple Creek Central Railway has declared an initial dividend of 3 per cent on its common stock for the year ending September 30. A quarterly dividend of 1 per cent on the preferred stock, making the full 4 per cent for the year, has also been declared. This is the second dividend on the preferred stock. Both the dividends are payable on October 25.

Gross earnings of Missouri Pacific for the second week in October decreased $90,000. For the same week Wabash decreased $104,705. Comparison is with a period of heavy world's fair traffic last year.

The question of increasing the brokerage charges on grain trading is receiving a large amount of attention on the Chicago board of trade. The present charge to the trader to get in and out of the market is ⅛ of 1 cent a bushel. On a trade of 5,000 bushels this is $6.25. A small sum when compared with the actual value of the wheat changing hands, which at present would be $4,200. The grain commission is also small when compared with brokerage charges on stocks.

After the Crucible Steel meeting yesterday the opinion was generally expressed with the officers and stockholders that in view of the present condition of the company's finances, a dividend at the probable rate of 4 per cent will be resumed on the preferred stock in December or in March.

STOCKS MOVE HEAVILY; CLOSE WEAK AND LOWER

Bearish Element Is More in Evidence and Sells Some of Its Holdings.

(By Private Wire to The Gazette.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—The Herald this (Thursday) morning says: Stocks ruled heavy in yesterday's market, closing weak and lower. There were only a few exceptions to the general tendency, but one was so pronounced a sharp advance in American Locomotive, under very active trading—as to lead many persons to ascribe some of the weakness elsewhere to the extensive advances in the specialty. Speculative sentiment was much mixed again. Dealings were largely professional, but the bearish element gave a little more emphasis to their opinion than of late and sold some stocks. Signs of some slight liquidation were also in evidence in the general list, chiefly, however, of that character which is termed "speculative liquidation," and marks the operation by which speculators for the advance take profits or stop losses. There was a slight increase in the volume of business.

The day was somewhat more fruitful than of late in news developments and rumors of influential character. The proximity of the Russian loan, with an extensive American participation, the announcement of which is near, but most persons thought, excited considerable influence in banking circles, but it was the superficial developments and rumors which were chiefly instrumental in forcing the reactions in stocks.

Thus the decline in Chicago Subway gave rise to rumors of trouble, which extended to London, and the advance in American Locomotive gave rise to a revival of the report of a large operator in trouble. Both of these are probably false, though extensive losses were sustained in the Subway collapse, and bear traders also may have been squeezed in the advance in Locomotive. The rumored illness of Mr. Morgan was also rushed to London and exerted some influence, but was quite negligible in declines in certain issues with which Mr. Morgan is associated.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

It is reported that the Montana Tonopah Company has passed its October dividend, for the reason that the company's surplus does not reach the $100,000 mark promised by the new management before it would place the corporation on a permanent quarterly basis. It is said the earning power of the corporation has been much retarded during the past quarter by the embargo the American Smelting and Refining Company has placed upon the steming uncontrollable amount of ore which has just been handed them.

It is reported that the Morning and Evening mines, the biggest in Coeur d'Alenes, have been sold to New Yorkers for $6,000,000.

The production of zinc increased last week and the price declined about $2 a ton. The lead market is stronger at $64.50.

The sensation of the week at Goldfield, Nev., was the strike in the Kendall mine on Columbia mountain, within a mile of the town of Goldfield. A vein of ore four feet wide that averaged $1,100 a ton has been disclosed at the 70-foot level. On the surface, where the strike was made, the owners of the Gardner-Oddie lease had taken out $150,000 worth of ore. The lead is said to continue to the east to any depth, and the present strike has been made within three feet of their workings by the company itself. When first disclosed the vein showed to be two feet wide. A few feet more of development work revealed it to be four feet wide. Ore is now being brought to the surface from this vein and is being sacked preparatory to shipment.

The Metal Market.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—The London market was about 5s higher, with spot closing at £148 17s 6d and futures at £148 5s. Locally the market continued very quiet, but bid prices were advanced in sympathy. The London tone abroad and spot closed at $32 25@32 75. Copper was somewhat irregular abroad, closing at £72 10s for spot and £71 for futures. Locally the market shows little change and business is very quiet, with some dealers said to be less firm in their views. Lake is quoted at $18 37½@18 50; electrolytic, $18 12½@18 25; casting, $18 00@18 37½. Lead was unchanged in the English market, closing at £14 18s 9d. Locally the situation is about as recently reported. Spot supplies are scarce and held all the way from $5 00 to $5 50, the quotation being largely nominal in the absence of business. Supplies for shipment in 30 days are quoted at $4 35 in lots of 50 tons. Spelter was again higher in London, closing at £18 12s 6d. The local market was also firm and higher, being influenced by export talk. Spot was quoted at $6 10@6 20. Iron was irregular abroad, closing at 52s 9d for standard foundry and at 54s for Cleveland warrants. Here locally iron was first and higher. No. 1 foundry northern is quoted at $18 00@18 50; No. 2 foundry northern, $17 50@18 00; No. 1 foundry southern, $17 50@18 00; No. 2 foundry southern, $17 00@17 50.

MARKET BOOMING IN CERTAIN LINES

COKE PRICES ARE ADVANCING

The iron and steel market in some lines has taken on the aspect of a "boom" despite the best efforts of the manufacturers to prevent the recurrence of a period of excessively high prices which will result not only in a subsequent disastrous drop, but in labor difficulties.

The temptation of premium offers has been very great and in some cases there have been payments from $5 to $10 above the so-called official price.

The action of the steel plate manufacturers in New York Tuesday had been forecasted as certain to be an increase, but this proved wrong, as the old price of $1 60 per 100 pounds was reaffirmed. It is said to be improbable that the steel bar manufacturers will meet, the price being continued at $1 50. As a matter of fact prompt deliveries of steel bars call for prices from $2 to $3 above that figure.

In the finished lines which have for months past been the busiest, such as rails, structural material, plates, etc., the same enormous demand continues and the bookings will carry the mills far into 1906. The demand for tin plate has bettered considerably and the sheet steel market is also firmer.

The reflection of the finished line demand upon the coke market has been very marked. Spot furnace coke, strictly Connellsville, is said to have brought in one case a price of $5, but the market ranges at $2 50 to $2 75 on contracts. Connellsville 72-hour foundry is bringing $3 50 on contracts for delivery extending throughout 1906. While the car shortage is at present having some effect upon the coke market the principal reason for the higher prices is that of large demand. A pig iron order from the United Steel Corporation is expected shortly.

The Hardware Market.

The hardware business continues to move along in very good shape, orders coming in freely from salesmen on the road and from the trade direct, and covering almost all lines. A particularly good demand exists for specific hardware lines in builders' hardware, in carpenters' and mechanics' tools, and in house furnishing goods, including cutlery and fancy goods. A strong demand continues on nails and wire, large quantities of these goods going out constantly. The window glass business shows no particular changes from the time of our last report, the trade keeping their stocks in shape for their requirements, and the demand that this brings means the movement of a considerable quantity of glass. An excellent business is being done in paints, colors and varnishes, and in other lines the fall go with the paint season, the open weather being especially favorable for this kind of work. Loaded shells, shotguns and sporting goods generally continue to move freely, the demand showing particularly good on pocket cutlery, razors, revolvers and like goods. Prices in all lines continue firm, there being no recent changes noted. The Pittsburgh Hardware Company furnishes the following quotations:

Columbia pocket knives, discount 35 per cent; Albion hatchets, discount 40 and 10 per cent; Bindley canal shovels, $6 50 a dozen; Great Western files, discount 70 and 10 per cent; sheet iron, base, No. 26, $2 25 the 100 pounds; galvanized sheet iron, discount 60 and 10 per cent; sash weights, the ton, $27 00; window glass, first and second brackets, B single, 90 and 20 per cent off list October 1, 1904; all other sizes, single and double, 90 per cent off list of October 1, 1904, for immediate acceptance only; Albion sewing machines, discount, 25 per cent; blue and white enameled ware, 40 and 10 per cent; Albion hot plates, 40 per cent; Albion lanterns, 40 per cent; hay forks, 60 per cent.

LEADERS STAND AGAINST VIOLENT PRICE RAISE

Are Endeavoring to Keep Raw Material and Finished Iron and Steel Products Within Bounds.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—The Iron Age tomorrow will say of the iron and metal trades: The leading interests in the steel industry are more and more emphatically taking a position adverse to any violent upward price movement. They are endeavoring to keep not alone values of raw material within bounds, but are holding down prices on finished iron and steel. The markets for pig iron have stiffened. This week it is the east and the central west which have marked up quotations. Some of the large southern interests have practically withdrawn from the market entirely, but there is still a little iron available on the basis of $12 50 for No. 2 at Birmingham.

A number of moderate-sized lots of steel rails have been contracted for during the last week. The pressure upon the car builders and locomotive shops is enormous. It is figured out that there are contracts in sight for 30,000 steel cars, which include the 20,000 cars just being figured on for the Pennsylvania system.

POTATOES PROMISE TO BE SCARCE AND DEAR

Price Advances Five Cents and Rot Is Making Its Appearance. Apple Market Steady.

Potatoes promise to be scarce as well as dear during the coming winter. Yesterday saw an advance of 5 cents in this line and dealers claim this article will reach the one dollar mark before the winter is over. Two things are accountable for the rise, scarcity and rot. Rot is playing havoc with potatoes everywhere and the market will not be overloaded as was expected.

The lovers of cantaloupes received another severe blow yesterday, as this delicacy took a jump of 75 cents and on account of the lateness of the season the prices will probably have a steady advance.

Live hens were plentiful at the commission houses and there is a good demand for all live poultry. Heavy hens can be bought for 13 cents and dressed will run about 3 cents more.

Apples remained steady and the looked-for advance in price did not come, but there will likely be an advance when the later and larger shipments come.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts.

Receipts yesterday were: Pennsylvania, 7 cars hay, 3 cars oats, 1 car straw, 2 cars rye, Baltimore & Ohio, 2 cars hay, 2 cars oats, 1 car corn, 1 car straw. Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 10 cars hay, 5 cars oats.

Receipts of grain were not so heavy. The surplus of Tuesday was all worked off and the market was firm and active. Hay continues in good demand, especially clover and mixed, which is scarce. Wheat and oat straw is wanted, as arrivals are very limited. No change in mill feed. Shelled corn is high owing to light receipts, some new ear coming in, but not sufficient to make a market.

LOCUSTS IN ARGENTINE STIFFEN HOME MARKET

Damage to Wheat Crop in South America Improves Prices in Chicago.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Damage by locust to the Argentine wheat crop was one of the main factors creating a strong market for wheat here today. Wet weather in the United States was another factor. At the close wheat for December delivery was up ¾c. Oats show a gain of ¼c. Corn and provisions are practically unchanged.

The wheat market opened firm. December being up a shade to 1⅛@1⅛c at 89¾@89⅞c. General rains over a large part of the United States formed the chief source of firmness. During the first half hour the market experienced an easier tone, owing to selling by commission houses and by the leading long. For December the lowest point of the day was reached at 88⅝c. Upon withdrawal of offerings from the pit leader the market quickly recovered its early firmness and with persistent buying by shorts firmness was supplanted by decided strength. The demand from shorts was largely the outcome of a report from Rosario claiming that the locusts are making serious inroads in the crops in the province of Santa Fe. Strength of cash wheat in the northwest helped to stimulate demand for options here. Late in the session the market was further strengthened by a report to the effect that famine is threatened in parts of India on account of drouth. The highest point of the session for December was touched at 91¼c. The market closed strong, with December at 87⅞@91c. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 538,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 1,068,000 bushels, against 1,114,000 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 619 cars, against 959 cars last week and 775 cars a year ago.

The corn market was firm throughout the entire session. Cold, wet weather, light receipts and a good export demand were influences contributing to the strength. A leading bull was an active buyer. Commission houses also bought freely. The market closed firm. December opened unchanged to a shade higher at 44⅜c to 44⅝@44⅝c, sold up to 45c and closed at 44⅞@44¾c. Local receipts were 128 cars, with 4 cars of contract grade.

Excellent export shipping demand continued to be the chief influence in the oats market. Sentiment in the pit was quite bullish. A leading long was an active purchaser. December opened unchanged at 28⅜c, sold up to 29¼c and closed at 29c. Local receipts were 275 cars.

Provisions were a trifle easier on moderate profit-taking in October products. Packers were sellers of January products. At the close January pork was off a shade at $12 47½@12 50. Lard and ribs were each down a shade at 7c 82½ and 6c 82½@6c 85, respectively.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 74 cars; corn, 190 cars; oats, 287 cars; hogs, 21,000 head.

WOMEN DISCUSS SCHOOL MATTERS

State Federation Is Keenly Alive to the State's Educational Problems.

JUNIOR REPUBLIC DESCRIBED

SPECIAL TELEGRAM FROM ANNA R. STRATTON, Staff Correspondent.

CAMBRIDGE SPRINGS, Oct. 18.—Today's sessions of the state federation of Pennsylvania women's clubs resolved themselves into debates on "Public Education in Pennsylvania." An evident attempt at some solution of the country school problem ran as an undercurrent through the discussions and was particularly emphasized in the address of Miss Myra Lloyd Dock of the Civic club Harrisburg.

Miss Dock is a member of the state bureau of forestry. She spoke on "Trailing in Farm and Garden Work." Mrs. I. H. Rhoads of Lansdowne spoke on "Taxation for Education." The report of the educational committee was presented by the chairman, Mrs. Edward W. Biddle of Carlisle, who declared the state appropriation for educational purposes is generous, but the local support is inadequate. The figures presented showed the free kindergarten introduced into Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and 12 other places. Philadelphia has 106 kindergartens, Pittsburgh 62. Manual training is in operation in 16 places. Of 16,789 school directors in Pennsylvania, 48 are women. Great enthusiasm was aroused over Mrs. Biddle's plea for equal salaries for men and women teachers.

"We are on the verge of a labor renaissance," said George W. Gerwig, secretary of the Allegheny board of school controllers, "a renaissance brought about by the realization the head is not the most important element in educational work, but is more than equalled by the hand and the heart, whose cultivation is essential to the ideal life—a life of service to others." Mr. Gerwig's talk was a plea for more manual training in the public schools, and a cultivation of the emotional nature of the children through more individual ethical training.

Miss Mary Bakewell, secretary of the Pittsburgh and Allegheny Free Kindergarten association, read a paper on "The Kindergarten—a Pioneer Branch of Women's Work—Its Outlook For the Future." "Hygiene in the Schoolroom, and Medical Inspection of Schools" was discussed by Miss Dora Keen, secretary of the Public Education association of Philadelphia. Mrs. Alice Hamilton Rich of the Women's club, Lebanon, spoke on "Reciprocal Relations of Parents and Teachers."

The wor kof the William T. Carter Junior Republic in Redington, Huntingdon county, Pa., was described by its superintendent, James Struthers Heberling, who spoke on "The Care of Truants and Delinquents." Wilson L. Gill, LL. D., the originator of the School City, spoke of that institution and its training of the school children in self-government. A resolution was presented by Mrs. Samuel A. Ammon of the Twentieth Century club, Pittsburgh, calling for the appointment of a committee of three to co-operate with Mr. Gill in establishing school cities in Pennsylvania. This was referred to the standing committee on education.

The work of summer playgrounds, vacation schools and leagues of good citizenship were described by Miss Beulah Kennard, chairman of the joint committee of women's clubs for Pittsburgh playgrounds, vacation schools and recreation parks.

Ida Tarbell tonight made a brilliant address before the federation on "The Necessity of Training Boys and Girls to Higher Ideals in Business and Daily Life." This was followed by an excellent concert given by members of the Tuesday Musical club of Pittsburgh. Among those appearing on the program were Mrs. Charles M. Clarke, Mrs. James Stephen Martin, Mrs. Lawrence Litchfield and the Misses McLain, Wheat, Ellis, McNally and Duffin.

The nominating committee has made the following nominations: President, Miss Kate C. McKnight; vice president, Mrs. Ida M. Rhoades, Lansdowne; Miss Myra Lloyd Dock, Harrisburg; Mrs. Ida M. Houghton, Bradford; secretary, Miss Mary Knox Garvin, Philadelphia; treasurer, Mrs. Wilbur F. Litch, Sedmore; directors, Mrs. Elwell, Mrs. W. D. Beitzel, Miss Jane W. Pressly and Mrs. Levi Bird Duff.
